Reds Broaden Attack Front

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese broadened their offensive in South Vietnam today, opening a new front 60 to 75 miles north of Saigon with tanked infantry assaults, and threatening the provincial capital of Quang Tri in the north.

The South Vietnamese also reported the North Vietnamese sent MIG-19 fighter planes across the so-called demilitarized zone for the first time in the war.

Brig-Gen. Vu Van Giai, commander of South Vietnamese forces defending Quang Tri province, said the two planes had flown over South Vietnamese front-line positions at Dong Ha on Tuesday. They took no offensive actions and dropped no bombs, he said.

The North Vietnamese attacks now are spread across three fronts—the north, the Saigon area and in the central highlands, where North Vietnamese tanks drove to within four miles of a Saigon government base.

Of all the fronts, that in the north was the most critical. The North Vietnamese were striking south of Quang Tri and its nearby headquarters base in an attempt to cut off the city, 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Farther south, the North Vietnamese attacked South Vietnamese forces defending the old imperial capital of Hue.

The North Vietnamese scored initial successes in the drive north of Saigon. Official reports said South Vietnamese troops and their eight U.S. advisers were withdrawn by helicopters from the base camp of Quan Loi, 60 miles north of Saigon.

The attacks in the area were aimed at towns and bases near the Cambodian border.

MORE B-52s — President Nixon is sending additional B-52 bombers to help offset Hanoi's invasion of South Vietnam, but it remains uncertain if the administration has decided on a resumption of widespread air attacks in the North.

McGovern Now In Contention For Democratic Nomination

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Senator George McGovern has established himself as a major contender for the Democratic nomination for United States president by scoring a smashing victory in Wisconsin primary that knocked New York Mayor John V. Lindsay out of the race for the White House.

The South Dakota senator, making the breakthrough he had forecast here, ran strongly in both urban, blue-collar areas and rural farm regions Tuesday to capture seven of Wisconsin's nine congressional districts.

He won 54 of the state's 67 votes at the Democratic national convention, increasing his total to 94.5 of the 3,016 convention votes, one behind Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, in another strong showing after his Florida primary victory three weeks ago, rode late rural returns into second place by a narrow margin over Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

NIXON WINS — President Nixon easily won the state's 23 Republican convention delegates in the Republican primary.

Muskie, once the overwhelming Democratic favorite, suffered another smashing setback with a fourth-place finish and only 10 per cent of the vote. This could cripple his ability to raise funds for crucial primary

Nine Old Folk Die In Fire

ROSENCRANS, Wis. (AP) — Nine elderly persons died Tuesday night when a fire broke out in a rural nursing home near here, Sheriff George Wanish reported.

The victims included six men and three women.

Wanish said the fire apparently began in the kitchen of the Fair Hills Nursing Home, a two-story brick structure near this northeastern Wisconsin community.

Twelve of the institution's 13 residents were home when the fire struck.

Two persons were taken to hospital in Manitowish. A hospital spokesman said both were women, with one in critical condition and the other listed as satisfactory.

Wanish said it appeared all nine victims were asphyxiated, although two bodies also were burned.

A state fire marshal was called in to try to determine the cause of the fire.

Grit Group Ends Demand

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Quenel and District Liberal Association has dropped its demand for a provincial party leadership convention because the proposal is not generally supported within the party.

Len Cook, the Quenel association's president, said in a telephone interview Tuesday his group had asked 45 district Liberal associations in B.C. for comment on the proposal. He said so few answered that it was apparent there was really no need or desire for such a convention.

He said his association asked two months ago for a leadership convention because "the general feeling was that we weren't satisfied with the direction the party was going."

"The support didn't seem to be there for Mr. McGeer (Liberal leader Dr. Pat McGeer)," he said. "But we got only a handful of replies and we have more or less forgotten the whole thing. It was resolved."

EVEN TRUDEAU WOULD ACCEPT

TORONTO (CP) — Baton Broadcasting Inc. operator of CFTO-TV, is appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada a mediator's order that the TV station reinstate two men suspended last summer for wearing long hair.

Pat Hayes, one of the two, said in an interview today he was told Tuesday of the appeal. "That case could go on for a year, and I haven't been able to find a steady job."

CFTO officials could not be reached for comment. Mr. Hayes, a lighting technician, and Wolf Kroeger, set designer, both 20, were suspended June 14 after being warned their hair styles, reaching a half inch above the collar, were unacceptable.

Their union, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, filed a grievance, and last month provincial arbitrator E. E. Palmer ordered both men reinstated with full compensation for losses.

Mr. Palmer said the company's grooming standards were not reasonable, adding that the two hairstyles would be acceptable to the majority of the male population, even Prime Minister Trudeau, 52.

Prisoners End Diet

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — About 130 Millhaven penitentiary convicts traded bread and peanut butter for roast beef, fried potatoes and mashed turnips Tuesday when they ended a five-day boycott of hot meals after meeting with Warden Donald Clark.

The men had refused since Friday to eat hot meals and existed on snack foods purchased earlier at the prison canteen with prison earnings.

The protest was resolved when 50 representatives of the men, who make up one-third of the prison population, said they wanted a program of earned privileges in their living unit.

"Their wishes coincided with our plans," Mr. Clark said. He said it was the sole complaint registered at the meeting, which lasted several hours.

The earned privilege program, already implemented in one living unit, is based on conduct. Mr. Clark said prisoners are classified at a middle behavior level—three—and regress or progress according to conduct. A convict at level five, for example, earns such privileges as open visiting and being allowed to eat his meals in a common room with other prisoners.

The company had earlier refused to accept provincial government advertising unless the government publicly admitted its error in refusing to advertise in two Victoria newspapers, The Times and The Colonist.

The government had withheld advertising in mid-February because both Victoria papers had contravened a government ban against publishing liquor and tobacco advertising.

Sunday, the provincial finance department placed an ad in The Colonist. It was repeated in Monday's editions of The Times.

But Bill Taylor, president of Cranbrook-based Today Publications, said his newspapers would still not accept advertising until the government had admitted it was wrong.

The condition was apparently met when Public Works Minister William Chant admitted that "the government can't be right all the time" and added that "sometimes when you try to do the right things, things don't always work out."

Mr. Taylor said he was "pleased that the government has at long last realized the severity of their action against the Victoria newspapers and its over-riding implications and, through Mr. Chant, admitted a mistake had been made."

The two are charged in the deaths of William Tuplak, 27, and his fiancée, Marilyn Cathers, 24, whose bodies were found in Mr. Tuplak's home March 28. They had been shot and stabbed.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices climbed sharply in active trading today as the market extended the advance which began late Tuesday.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.15 at 950.56. The blue-chip indicator finished last April 29 at 950.82, a 23-month closing high, and has not closed as well since then. The Dow briefly topped the high last March 6 but turned downward before the close.

Few To View Hockey Tonight

TORONTO (CP) — Only three English-language television stations in Canada have made arrangements to carry the opening games tonight in the National Hockey League playoffs, a spokesman for MacLaren Advertising Co. Ltd. said today.

Ted Hough said the game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins will be shown by CFTO Toronto and CKOC Kitchener. The game between Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers will be telecast by CFCF Montreal. The three stations are affiliates of the CTV network.

He said an arrangement for the entire CTV network to telecast the games could not be worked out because of the network's insistence that it carries one game in a series of best-of-seven series.

MacLaren is prepared to place games only two at a time, he said.

MacLaren is prepared to make the games available to any television station in the country if the station can make arrangements for delivery from the Montreal or Toronto stations.

MacLaren is also attempting to set up a national radio network, he said.

HOPE FOR AGREEMENT

Mr. Hough said the MacLaren decision to place the games two at a time was made in case an agreement is reached between the CBC and its striking technicians. He said showing the games on the CBC network would allow more Canadians to see them as CBC has more affiliated stations than CTV.

The CBC will carry the New York-Montreal game on the French-language radio and television networks.

A CBC spokesman said Tuesday the French-language broadcasts will go ahead unless NABET members walk off their jobs.

Fred Pedneault, a NABET spokesman, said the technicians have guaranteed the CBC that the broadcast will not be interrupted tonight.

A CBC spokesman said later today that all "decisive" quarter- and semi-final games in Canada will be broadcast by the CBC English-language radio network starting this Sunday.

Kootenay Newspapers Win In Ad Battle With Victoria

CRANBROOK (CP) — Today Publications Ltd., which publishes three newspapers in the East Kootenay area of southwestern British Columbia, announced Tuesday it will lift its ban on provincial government advertising.

Montreal Police 'Brutal' Following Fatal Bombing

MIAMI (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba attacked Canadian police today for their "brutal and fascist methods" in investigating a bomb blast which destroyed the Cuban trade mission and killed a Cuban official in Montreal.

Castro implied the possibility of reprisals against Canadian embassy personnel in Havana.

He accused Montreal police of chopping down doors, "violating immunity" and arresting and beating "several of our comrades" after the Tuesday explosion. He said the police were in league with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

In a nationwide Havana radio broadcast monitored in Miami, the Cuban leader warned the Canadian government that its own embassy in the Cuban capital now enjoys "no other security than the decency of this revolutionary government."

He said, however, that his country "is not accustomed to taking revenge or vengeance against defenceless people—people who have no direct responsibility with the events."

The early-morning explosion on the top floor of a Montreal office building injured a second Cuban official. Several other Cubans were later detained by Montreal police and charged with possessing weapons and interfering with the police investigation of the blast.

SAYS CUBANS BEATEN
"They are not capable of protecting the Cuban centre, and on top of that they violate the office and arrest and beat Cuban diplomats," Castro shouted in his speech before the Young Communists Union in Havana.

He said a protest has been made to the Canadian government.

He then said these security guarantees are exclusively those "derived from a country who knows how to respect international laws and agreements."

It would be superfluous to say that these guarantees are superior to those given by any government or any agreement."

An anonymous caller told Miami Spanish-speaking radio stations and news agencies that the Montreal bombing was the work of a Cuban exile organization called Young Cuba.

"Naturally, villains and cowards are starting to come forward to take credit for the deed," Castro said.

"Do they think they are going to sow terror in this country? Do they think they are going to scare Cuban revolutionaries? If they believe that by perpetrating cowardly acts of this nature they will attain some objective, we are disposed to run whatever risks necessary, anywhere. In this country, for each one that falls there are 10,000 ready to take his place."

He continued to the loud cheering of the more than 2,000 delegates to the Communist youth congress:

'Twisted Their Arms A Bit'
Replying to Premier Castro's charges of brutality, Lieut. Larry Levis of the Montreal police force said:

"It depends on what you call brutal. If you call it brutal when our men go into a building to investigate a bombing and are faced with three men holding machine guns, well..."

Police Sgt. Charles Leroux said Tuesday some of the Cubans had pistols in their belts "and our guys just went up to them, grabbed them, maybe twisted their arms a bit, and took away the weapons."

It was understood in Ottawa that the Canadian government statement, if issued, will be in part a reiteration of regrets for Tuesday's bombing already expressed to Cuban Ambassador Jose Fernandez de Cossio by Acting External Affairs Minister C. M. Drury.

A copy of Mr. Drury's statement was cabled to the Canadian embassy in Havana—but for the information of its staff and not for official relay to the Cuban foreign ministry.

Meanwhile, external affairs department legal experts were still studying today the question of whether the Cuban personnel arraigned in Montreal Tuesday on charges of illegal possession of firearms and obstructing police are entitled to some form of diplomatic immunity.

Sources said it appeared that the Cuban who was killed in the explosion had diplomatic status, and perhaps others among those charged did too.

However, the names of none of those charged appear in the external affairs department's publication which lists members of the diplomatic corps and consular and other representatives in Canada.

NO COMMENT

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government withheld immediate comment today on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's charges of "brutal and fascist methods" allegedly used by Montreal police.

"We're just working on that," said an external affairs department official, implying that some kind of response was being prepared.

Results of the study, and a decision whether to go ahead with the program, should be known "within the next few weeks."

The spokesman said about 25 letters have been received arguing against the program. But they have been from individuals who "really haven't understood it."

About the same amount of mail was in favor of the scheme which would pay pensioners $10 a day to house and feed convicts in an attempt to rehabilitate them.

British Columbia MP Barry Mather (NDP — Surrey White Rock) said the program, if accepted, may be tested in his province. "We have more prisoners and more pensioners than any other."

But he said a recent meeting between himself and about 300 pensioners showed that the bulk of the old people opposed the idea.

Prison Pass System Defended

Despite some headline-grabbing exceptions, the pass system used for prisoners in Canada's prisons is a great success, Keith Fairbanks, executive secretary of the John Howard Society in Canada, said Tuesday in Hamilton. He told a service club meeting "more than 1,700 prisoners were let out on passes over Christmas. Of those 1,700, only 16 got involved in other offences. The success rate is 99 per cent."

Mr. Fairbanks said the biggest failure involved Yves Geoffroy, serving a life sentence for murdering his wife, who was given a three-day pass at Christmas to marry his former mistress.

However, Veterans Affairs Minister Art Laing, Liberal member of Parliament for Vancouver South, said Ottawa had not withdrawn its offer of a $100 million loan for the crossing or put any election date strings on it.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Tuesday challenged Opposition leaders to produce proof that Rehabilitation Minister Phil Gaglardi received expenses from both the government and private sources for a trip to South Bend, Ind., in 1970. Murray Jampolsky, president-elect of the Alberta Teachers' Association, said in Edmonton the association will "violently oppose" any provincial government move to take over wage negotiations. N. Ireland R.C.s Ponder Talking Tactics With IRA LONDONDERRY (Reuter) — Northern Ireland Roman Catholics are considering an offer to talk tactics with the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army.

The Londonderry command of the militant Provision wing put forth the offer Tuesday night, apparently to stem discontent in Catholic areas of Northern Ireland over the policy of continuing violence by the IRA.

But there was no indication that the offer was submitted with the blessing of the Provisionals' headquarters in the Irish Republic. The Londonderry Provisionals attempted a week ago to proclaim a four-week truce on civilian targets, but were overruled the following day by their leaders in the south.

The statement Tuesday night, issued among signs of a growing feeling that violence should stop and the British be given a chance to show that direct rule can work in Ulster, said the Provisionals are willing to meet representatives from Catholic areas of the city to discuss what is best for the people of these areas.

"We, the Provisional IRA, wish to state quite categorically that we too want peace, but not peace at any price," it said.

PEACE CAMPAIGN ON

Meanwhile, leaders of a peace move by members of an organization called Women Together in the Andersonstown district of Belfast vowed Tuesday to continue their campaign, despite harassment from IRA supporters at a meeting Monday.

Mrs. Monica Patterson, chairman of the group, said she has received calls of sympathy and support for their efforts, as well as threats if they continue.

William Whitelaw, the British government's administrator for Northern Ireland, will continue his new duties today after his first working day with civil servants in Belfast Tuesday.

High on his agenda is believed to be consideration of the files of the 700 or so persons still interned without trial in Northern Ireland. Whitelaw has promised personally to consider them all.

BELFAST SHAKEN

BELFAST (Reuter) — An explosion rocked the centre of this Northern Ireland capital during the morning rush hour today, causing extensive damage to a youth employment office. There were no casualties.

Fire broke out and the building was destroyed.

Pilot Makes A Safe Landing Minutes Away From Disaster

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A light plane with only five minutes of fuel left and several important instruments knocked out was guided to a safe landing today by the pilot of a chartered DC-3.

Gerry Rougoor, 37, of Leamington, Ont., pilot of the four-seater Mooney craft, said in an interview after landing that he was forced to fly "blind" for two hours in a snowstorm before radio directions from DC-3 pilot Joe Czaja of Toronto led him to London Airport about 3 a.m.

Mr. Rougoor was returning to Windsor with Greg Coulter, Bob Fox and Gord MacDonald, all of Leamington, from a hockey game in Bracebridge when they flew into the snowstorm near Collingwood, 30 miles northwest of Barrie on Georgian Bay.

Captain Czaja was flying London Knights of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series back to London after playing a game in Hull, Que.

EMERGENCY SITUATION

"I didn't know where we were... I didn't have a clue. I decided to declare an emergency and finally made radio contact with the airport centre at Toronto. We received their directions all right, but we still couldn't establish our own position because the instruments didn't work."

"We had contact at one stage with the provincial police at Woodstock who said we were close to their offices but I really couldn't tell where we were."

Mr. Rougoor said he switched to a second 40-gallon fuel tank and "I was down to what I figured about five more minutes in the air when we made radio contact with the DC-3" near London.

He said that before he contacted the DC-3 the ceiling was about 1,000 feet "and I was afraid to come down any lower."

The two planes circled the London area and passed each other "two or three times" before Mr. Rougoor followed the lights of the DC-3 until he sighted the airport lights and made a successful visual landing.

The DC-3 was chartered from Millardair.

Nechako River Holding Steady

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — The Nechako River was reported holding steady at two feet below flood level Tuesday night after rising more than eight feet Monday. Twenty-one feet is considered flood level.

The Nechako was blocked by ice and the spring runoff sent the river level up, threatening the community of Island Cache which adjoins Prince George.

Civil defence officials were on the alert but an RCMP spokesman said there was no immediate flood threat. Island Cache has a population of about 500 persons.

The Nechako flows into the Fraser River at Prince George.

B.C. Tory Party Plans Meeting

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Conservative Party's newly-elected board of officers will hold its first meeting here on Friday.

KELOWNA'S BUSY MAIN THOROUGHFARE AGAIN UNDER SCRUTINY

Harvey Avenue Policy Under Planning Review

Harvey Avenue, the city's "green through-highway" as described in a 1964 report, will probably remain unchanged for at least another two months although aldermen agreed the street's development policy should be turned over to the regional planner for review.

The policy, adopted from the 1964 report, was reaffirmed by council last year and generally allows for motel and high-rise development between Ellis and Abbott streets along with a variety of development including multiple-family projects between Glenmore and Ellis streets.

However, the policy carefully stipulates council control and very little development has taken place. Amid the control are building setback regulations which have apparently curtailed alterations or repairs and according to the city building inspector, are leading to some deterioration.

The matter was brought up this week by the building inspector who cited the case of at least one property owner who he said is anxious to upgrade some of the rental housing on the north side of Harvey east of Richter Street.

He suggested the policy be turned over to the new planner for review, updating and any further recommendations.

Council agreed and was told a report on sewer use and charges would be ready in the city by June 1. This report also affects Harvey Avenue development in that council has been withholding any possible approval for some larger development proposals until the city can determine how to charge and provide for further high-density sewage facilities.

Criticism has been levelled at the city by developers who claim aldermen are blocking Harvey Avenue development and forcing deterioration of the thoroughfare which was described in the report eight years ago as "striking in natural beauty" and having "a unique residential atmosphere which is lacking in almost every other highway entering any city in Canada."

Less than two years ago the Okanagan Mainline Real Estate Board published an advertisement stating "12 years ago Harvey Avenue was zoned for multi-family dwellings" and pointing out that "not one project has proceeded."

Late last year, council was attended by several persons concerned with the future use of Harvey and proposing development of one sort or another. In almost each case, the people were told council would not budge until the sewage report was brought in.

City engineer Nelson Deck, who inherited the problem of delays in the report caused by resignations of top city planning and engineering staff, Tuesday promised the report by June 1.

Meanwhile, more thoughts may be given to the subject by the new regional planner.

SEEN and HEARD

The level of Okanagan Lake is still being reduced according to figures released Tuesday which list it at 98.84, only four inches of standard measurement above the agreed minimum of 98.50 ft. Concerned with possible flooding this year, the lake is being reduced to handle the heavy runoff expected to exceed even that of last year.

Aldermen, in their free speaking period of a city council session Tuesday, listed their activities on behalf of the city during the past two weeks. Ald. William Kane had gone to a water seminar at Naramata, Mayor Hilbert Roth had held meetings in Ottawa, and Ald. Richard Stewart had met with the dog catcher. Not to be outdone, Ald. Walter Green whose duties with the school district sometimes preclude time off in the afternoon, reminded fellow aldermen he had attended the senior curlers' bonspiel. "How did you do?" queried the mayor.

Kelowna motorists may have been slightly taken aback if they drove down Richter Street. A new road sign has been added: "Sheep on road, drive carefully."

Funeral Thursday For James Edgell

Funeral services will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Thursday at 1 p.m. for James Walter Edgell, 78, of 1880 Pandosy St., who died Tuesday.

Mr. Edgell came to Kelowna in 1920 and worked for the old D. Chapman and Co. He served overseas in 1914 to 1918, returning to the Interior in 1920. He spent his remaining years in Westbank, Kamloops and Westwood, retiring to Kelowna in June of 1971.

Surviving Mr. Edgell are one step-son, Earle Wilkinson of Kelowna; one step-daughter, Mrs. E. F. (Ethel) Harding of Kamloops and one sister in England. His wife, Esther Rose died in October, 1971.

City Okays Arena Facilities To Be Used For Advertising

As long as it ticks properly it will stay—but if somebody wants to hang signs on it advertising pink panty hose, that's okay.

Such was council's reaction Tuesday night to a suggestion that a new score clock for Memorial Arena be purchased by way of advertising space sold adjacent to the veteran timepiece now in the building.

According to council's arena advisory committee, the old clock has about two years left and they've come up with a scheme to buy a new one. Advertising space sold near the clock and also on the ice machine, the committee feels, would offset the cost involved and could go towards other recreational costs.

The present clock was erected by, and until recently maintained by, a tobacco company. Said Ald. Syd Hodge, "That clock was put there by MacDonald's in good faith and if we're planning to replace the thing, they should get first crack at it."

Advisory committee member Ron Wilkinson told council that Prince George has purchased two ice machines through the selling of advertising space.

"All we'd like to know is if council will allow the arena commission to buy a clock through advertising."

Ald. Richard Stewart said, "I'm all in favor of the idea of selling advertising, but I think the money should be used to offset deficits in the operation of the arena."

Aldermen carried his motion that the arena commission be allowed to sell advertising and that the present clock remain "until it stops running."

Just exactly what kind of ads will be sold remains to be seen. The panty hose suggestion came from a chuckling Mayor Hilbert Roth during comment on the government's ban on tobacco and liquor advertising. "I don't wear panty hose but they wouldn't ban those ads."

Kelowna Hostel Services Remains Out In The Cold

The city-owned Cameron property on Richter Street won't be used as a hostel for transient girls this summer. Instead, it will provide space for summer arts and crafts and park recreational programs.

Council made the decision Tuesday night following a recommendation from its recreation advisory committee, which has looked into both possibilities during the past few months.

And although the issue had been discussed at some length during previous council meetings, few words were spoken as the motion was passed, aside from Ald. William Kane's comment that "It seems the recreation advisory committee has had a change of heart."

The motion read that the location not be used for hostel purposes because it is in a residential area.

Last month, council turned down a request that the badminton hall be used as a summer hostel for males and a subsequent request that the Centennial Hall portion of the arena be used is still under study.

Meanwhile, the Kelowna Hostel Service, formerly known as the Central Okanagan Transient Aid Society, is still out in the cold.

James Doak Seeks Seat

Kelowna lawyer and past national chairman of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada, James Doak, will seek nomination as the Tory candidate in the South Okanagan riding during the next provincial election.

Harris MacLean, local PC president, said today an executive meeting will be held next week to set a date for a nominating convention by which time other candidates may declare themselves in the running.

Winfield Men Hurt At Hope

Four persons were in hospital, including two from Winfield, with injuries suffered Monday in a two-car, head-on crash on Highway 3, 10 miles east of Hope.

RCMP said a total of six persons were hurt when a car driven by Johann Olson of North Vancouver and another driven by Lawrence Dignan of Winfield, collided.

Listed in satisfactory condition were Mr. Dignan, Gordon Coles, also of Winfield, and Rodney Harper of Salmon Arm. Mr. Olson and his wife Beryl were treated for minor injuries and released from hospital. Their 11-year-old son Peter was in fair condition Tuesday,

Minor Cuts Suffered

Minor cuts and bruises were suffered by David Russell Lwowksi of Rutland, following an accident today at 2:30 a.m., on Gibson Road.

No injuries were suffered by James Nelson of Armstrong Tuesday at 1:45 p.m., after the vehicle he was driving struck a power line guy wire near 1639 Chandler St.

Police are investigating theft of back-up lights from a vehicle owned by Robert Forsyth of Vancouver, while parked at the Capri lot Tuesday at 7 a.m.

20 Visitors Die Violently

Motor vehicle accidents were the chief cause of the 20 accidental and violent deaths recorded among non-residents of the South Okanagan Health Unit area in 1971, as compared to 61 among residents. The figure is four less than that recorded in 1970.

According to the SOHU annual report for 1971, traffic mishaps claimed 13 non-residents in 1971; four died by drowning and two committed suicide through self-inflicted gunshot wounds. The other, a child, died when caught between end-rails on a bed.

SMOKE ALARMS
Two smoke alarms required the attention of the Kelowna Fire Department Tuesday. The calls were received at 8 a.m., to Kelowna Printing Co. Ltd., 1580 Water St., and 570 Sutherland Ave., at 11:45 a.m. The trouble was attributed to overheated furnace motors in both cases and no damage was reported.

Cloud

The forecast for Thursday is not quite so gloomy as yesterday, there will be no showers, but clouds will continue with only a few clear periods. The high and low in the city Tuesday was a cool 51 and 29 degrees with a trace of precipitation, compared to a mild 55 and 26 with no precipitation recorded for the same day at the airport. Lows expected tonight 25 to 40 degrees.

GRANT DENIED BY THE CITY POSSIBLE CLOSURE FEARED

A request by the Catholic School Board for a $5,000 grant-in-aid has been turned down by council.

Chairman of the Catholic board, Dr. G. N. Stewart, said in a letter requesting the money that rising costs produced a deficit of $9,000 for the current school year and that if costs continue to rise, the Catholic school system in Kelowna could close next year.

The Federation of Independent Schools Association, he said, continues to press for financial recognition of such education systems.

"Premier Bennett has chosen to show no sympathy, but members of the Social Credit party do show intention to consider this area. Thus there is some hope that in the not too distant future our results will be recognized and will continue to strive to be an asset to this community."

Tuesday night, aldermen had some difficulty wording their refusal and after some wrangling did agree Catholic schools aren't the responsibility of the city and pointed the finger—inofficially—at the provincial government.

The two schools involved are Immaculate High School and St. Joseph's Elementary School.

Library Expansion Gets Nod From City

City council has approved in principle the expansion of present facilities as a temporary answer to the space problem facing the Okanagan Regional Library building on Queensway Avenue.

The Okanagan Regional Library Board has proposed to the city that expansion of the Kelowna branch and the regional headquarters in the building be undertaken at a cost of $60,000.

Tuesday night, aldermen passed a motion from Ald. Alan Moss that the library board have architects draw up plans for the expansion and that the city contribute $25,000, with other participants agreeing to accept two-thirds of the project's total cost.

Ald. Moss, the city's representative on the library board, said that after reviewing suggestions that the fire hall or old post office be used or that the library headquarters be moved out of the city, he felt expansion "would allow a thorough investigation of the problem."

Ald. William Kane said before the motion was passed, "I'm still puzzled as to the financing formulas being used, which seem to me to be completely arbitrary," adding that he felt the city was making an unnecessary commitment.

NOT DRIVEN

Police reported Tuesday one of the vehicles involved in an accident which sent six Westbank teen-agers to hospital with minor injuries was driven by Mrs. Elizabeth Milne. It was in fact, parked outside the Milne home on Angus Drive when the mishap occurred.

'Poor Cousin' Inference Not Correct States Green

Ald. Walter Green took a few verbal swings at a Kelowna Chamber of Commerce report on the Kelowna airport made public at a chamber executive meeting last week.

Ald. Green described as "bordering on the irresponsible" statements made by chamber member Donald Day, who attended a briefing by Pacific Western Airlines of the city's aviation advisory committee on the airline's scheduling. (Courier, April 1.)

Ald. Green said he resented Mr. Day's reference to Kelowna facility's "poor cousin" image.

In his report, Mr. Day said, "Part of the problem is two major airports within 40 miles of one another, which leads me to believe the city of Kelowna is not strong enough in its demands to the relevant authorities that our airport become the regional airport for the Okanagan."

Ald. Green also questioned any efforts of the chamber to get a regional aviation committee started.

"Our aviation committee is deliberately regional," he said, "and it's a very hard-working committee."

"In reply to Mr. Day, I'd say we on the committee know what we're doing and I might point out that Mr. Day entered the meeting two-thirds of the way through."

Mayor Hilbert Roth described the report as "the usual hot air blowing across the bridge," adding that he took the story "with a grain of salt."

Chamber president D. A. Chapman said today he felt the intent of the chamber directorship was probably being misunderstood.

He said the chamber was concerned, "as I'm sure the city is," with the standard of air travel service in and out of the Okanagan and "we are only now attempting to formulate some sort of policy with which we hope to work closely with the city and region in maintaining good service."

Mr. Day, not a chamber director, was an alternate appointee to the aviation committee and his personal remarks to the directors were obviously incorrectly construed as chamber policy.

However, the chamber has officially expressed concern with the responsibility of Pacific Western Airlines to provide adequate service and it was to this end directors felt they could aid.

The airport will come under discussion at a chamber-sponsored meeting at the Capri Thursday.

Briefs From City Hall

The first three readings of a bylaw which will reduce the speed on KLO Road within the city limits were affirmed Tuesday by Kelowna aldermen. The bylaw provides for the reduction of speed from 40 to 30 miles per hour.

Three readings were given also to a bylaw which would provide for a deposit of $500 to guarantee that the site from which a building or structure has been removed is left in a clean and tidy condition.

Finally approved was an amendment to a zoning bylaw to rezone 1090 Lawrence Avenue from single and two-family residential to the community commercial and low rise zone. The zoning would permit construction of a new delicatessen and owners' living quarters fronted on Glenmore Street.

Resolutions approved included the execution of a right-of-way in the area of the south side of the 1400 block Coronation Avenue and exempting a subdivision on the north side of the 400 block Cawston Avenue from the minimum frontage requirements.

Council has declined participation in the annual Park and Tilford civic beautification nomination committee and left the matter in the hands of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce. The contest is a province-wide spring affair in which awards are given winning entries. Of the city's 19 nominees last year, a divisional finalist emerged.

The Kelowna Shrine Club has been given a licence to sponsor a midway April 6, 7 and 8 next to Arena Motors, the proceeds from which will be turned over to the Shrine's Crippled Children's Hospital.

Ontario City Seeks Support Representations Were Made

A recommendation the federal government consult at a local level in the planning of future works incentives programs was received and filed Tuesday by Kelowna city council.

Although aldermen indicated agreement with the resolution, council policy has normally been to deal with such matters through agencies such as the Union of B.C. Municipalities or the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

The recommendation was in the form of a resolution from the city of St. Catharines, Ont., which said incentive programs require careful preparation with clear terms of reference and sufficient time for municipalities to prepare constructive and effective projects.

Council received and filed the resolution without action when Mayor Hilbert Roth said such a request for consultation at the municipal level was made late last month in a special brief to the federal government by the CFMM of which the mayor is a B.C. director.

Recommendations contained in the brief included requests that the federal government consult with local government before approving grants for projects undertaken by private groups... and that administration of these programs be given preference to action over study projects.

The brief said "In too many cases well meaning but unfortunately amateur studies are undertaken. It should be obvious that non-professional groups are better able to contribute to cleaning up rivers than to carrying out technical studies of the causes and degree of pollution."

The brief also pointed out that there is a need "at the local level" for co-ordination of local initiatives and opportunities for youth projects or the programs will result in duplication of effort, conflict and an outright waste of public funds and energy.

Earlier, Mayor Roth described the CFMM directors as satisfactory but "they made the point, and I agree, that local government is within the jurisdiction of the provinces."

He was referring to the fact that the CFMM brief was primarily aimed at getting local government a greater voice in directing the affairs of the country and the mayor said "It is the provincial government we should be dealing with in seeking this."

Three-Day Valley Bike Race Expected To Draw About 100

Biking has become a popular pastime in the Okanagan, but biking for recreation is as different from the Okanagan International Three-day bicycle race as shiny is from pro hockey.

More than 100 cyclists from B.C., Alberta, Washington State and Japan are expected for the race, in conjunction with the third annual B.C. Festival of Sports.

The race will start in Keremeos May 20 and travel to Osoyoos, then compete in a six-mile time trial in the Anarchist Mountains.

The next day will see the competitors pedalling their way to Penticton, another 40-mile jaunt. A 25-mile criterium will follow in Penticton's Skaha Lake Park area.

The grand finale will be the trip to Kelowna, covering 50 miles. A 25-mile criterium in Kelowna will close the race.

The Japanese team will be ranked as favorites winning the overall title last year and back with their top riders to defend the sought-after title.

The competition is expected to be a lot tougher for the Japanese four-man team, however, as Canadian cyclists use the race to prepare for the competition to decide positions on the Canadian Olympic team.

The race will be a preparation event for the national Olympic trials in Vancouver in July, and Canadian racers will be out to establish themselves in the three-day Okanagan event. The Okanagan competition will be one of four outstanding cycling events to be staged during the Festival of Sports with the other three being held later in May and in early June.

WENATCHEE ROYALTY RETURNS

Washington State Apple Blossom Festival Queen Pam Murray, seated on Ogopogo's nose, was especially pleased to "meet the Okanagan monster" having heard the fascinating legend while holidaying at Penticton with her parents six years ago. She also purchased a small replica to take home. Pam and her princesses, Patti Burgener (left) and Robin Curtis (right) are on a good will tour of the Valley this week, promoting the festival which will be held in their hometown, Wenatchee, May 5-13.

Escorted by Wenatchee Chief of Police Bill Relch, and chaperones Mrs. Ray Shutt and Mrs. Bob Salmon, the group were entertained Tuesday at a dinner sponsored by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce. (Courier Photo)

Short Takes

There was a time when Canadians were proud of their postal services and looked with some pity on the Americans who had a much inferior operation. But when it takes 13 days for a piece of mail to come from Ontario and six days for a letter to reach Kelowna from Vancouver (no holidays involved) our pride in the postal service is eroded. It is reported that shortly the postal union contracts will be coming up again for renegotiation and that "work to rule" will be in order. Well, that can only be an improvement... All of which brings to mind the news that the postmaster-general has announced that free mailing privileges are being revoked for federal government departments and agencies and that persons mailing to any government department will also have to pay regular postage. The only exceptions are to senators and members of Parliament and a few other officials. This is not going to have any great effect on the individual, although it may tend to cut down the "pressure" letter writers. And, too, cut down on the outflow of mail from The Hill. However, it would seem, unfortunately, that MPs will still enjoy franking privileges and so their outflow of political propaganda will continue.

Quo vadis? Whither goest thou? Sometimes one is forced to wonder just where we are going in this province. If the latest piece of provincial legislation is any guide we are going straight into a regimented society in which the individual will have no rights at all and will not be able to call his soul his own. We are thinking of the legislation which provides very substantial taxes on gifts and provides that all gifts, no matter how small or to whom, must be reported to the government. All Christmas, birthday, and anniversary presents must be reported whether given to spouse, child or lover. Why, a man could not even buy his wife a box of chocolates for Easter! Or his daughter an Easter egg! Without reporting it, that is. True, the attorney-general says he does not intend to report such small gifts but the lawyers say that the law as written says he should. And the attorney-general conveniently forgot to say at what gift-value he would report. All this is only going to make more paper work and more headaches for the average man. But it is seriously going to affect donations to charity. The organizations which have depended on public support will probably be seriously affected and all because the government wants its pound of flesh regardless of from whom it takes it, the halt, the weak, the blind, the sick. Quo vadis? we ask the government. What next?

Another provincial election sign: the government has quietly resumed its advertising in the two Victoria daily papers. Last February these newspapers published a cigarette advertisement and in a rage the government cancelled all government advertising in the papers. In protest against this, five weeklies in the province refused to accept any government advertising. This newspaper at the time pointed out that the government was not hurting the Victoria papers as much as it was depriving Victoria people of their right to know. Government information simply could not reach the people in Victoria if the ads did not appear in the newspapers of that city. Now the ads are back. This can only mean one thing: that the enraged government ministers have come to realize that by their hasty action they had cut their noses off to spite their face. They realize that in any election campaign they must get their message across through ads in the newspapers and that as long as the ban situation lasted this would be impossible in Victoria and at least five rural areas throughout the province. And it would be the Social Credit candidates who would suffer and in most of those localities the incumbent is a Socred. Election pragmatism forced the government to forget its rage and take a second look.

The storm petrel of the provincial government is undoubtedly Hon. P. A. Gagliardi. He does seem to have the knack of getting into trouble and embarrassing his fellow ministers. Is he just careless? Or is he just "accident prone" to petty misdemeanors? Whatever, he seems to be constantly in hot water and embarrassing the government.

Improvement Welcome

(Victoria Colonist)
Federal statistics showing unemployment down 38,000 in February compared with January would be more encouraging but for the substantial withdrawal from the working force in the same period, a decline of 27,000, in fact, comprising mostly women and young, discouraged job-seekers of both sexes.
A more significant figure is in the employment column, showing 7,928,000 at work in February compared with 7,917,000 in the month previous. And while any improvement is welcome, that disclosed in these most recent estimates—and they are only estimates—is hardly a matter for jubilation.

Basically Canada is not tackling the employment problem in the decisive area, as so many well-informed people—including the chairman of the prices and wages control commission, Dr. John Young—have been trying to tell the Trudeau administration for more than two years.

Another set of statistics from Ottawa illustrates the point. Canada's export performance last year lagged behind the growth of world trade generally and the expansion of exports from the 14 leading industrial countries in particular. International Monetary Fund figures confirm this.

Canadian exports, at a substantial $18.4 billion, were up by nine per cent, but overshadowed by Japan's 25 per cent, and gains of 18 per cent by The Netherlands, 15 per cent for strike-ravaged Britain and the same for France, and 14 per cent for West Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Denmark and Sweden all bettered Canada's growth rate. Only Belgium, Norway and the United States lagged.

Here is the message for Mr. Trudeau: the International Monetary Fund figures clearly show that countries with the least inflation in their export prices have shown best growth. And, again by way of illustration, Japan's export prices were only 12 per cent higher than in 1963 while Canada's were up a whopping 27 per cent.

Until that inflationary tendency is controlled the country is not going to recover as it should from the employment malady and, by the same token, maintain its competitive position among world traders. It's a losing battle.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

OUR ECONOMY

And So Inflation Still Remains

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA — John Young, the young professor from British Columbia, is beginning to talk as if he would like to go back to his lecture room.

He came here three years ago to head up the prices and incomes commission, which was set up to control inflation. Since then inflation has continued at what most people would agree is an unacceptable level.

It was part of Young's job to make speeches—to sell the case for wage and price restraint to the public, particularly business and labor. A year ago he was still making a point in his speeches. He seemed to think restraint was being used or would be used.

In fact, inflation has continued and as of now no one can say whether Young and the government were right or wrong. There was little restraint on the part of either labor or management, although it is easier to point up the failings of labor than of management. Unemployment remains at a fairly high level, although not as high as in other comparable countries. In a recent speech Young appears to deplore what he considers an excessive concern about unemployment, which led to increasing government spending and hence more inflation.

INFLATION ACCEPTED
He admitted no politician advocated inflation for its own sake but seems to feel they are too ready to accept it during a period of high unemployment. Such people, he suggests, tend to think unpleasant results can be avoided by halting inflation before it gains too much momentum. If so, he says they either believe in miracles or want inflation to continue. Such policies he calls "short-sighted and futile," in fact, "dumb." As part of his job he made many speeches on the importance of increases in prices, wages and salaries. He urged that increases in wages, salaries or prices be approved only when they are clearly less than the current rate of increase in costs. The commission has looked at various increases and pronounced some of them excessive.

In most cases nothing happened, particularly in the case of increases demanded by powerful labor unions. Manufacturers, when challenged on particular price increases, proved a little more responsive but prices and profits continued to rise through 1970 and 1971. It is now obvious that the underlying rate of price increase will again reach a level indicating serious inflation.

NO FIRM ANSWER
The country's chief inflation fighter then poses a rhetorical question about what the government should do. He doesn't offer a firm answer. Each action has drawbacks. Government could commit itself openly to inflationary policies and so inform the public. That might be honest but it could make possible any gains in output and employment.

Government could accept inflation secretly and adjust policies to it while denying that it was doing so. Such a course had been followed in the past. Apart from moral considerations, the policy would be apt to undermine faith in democratic institutions.

Apparently the only thing to be done, in Young's view, is to fight inflation all the time. Yet he doesn't say how that can be done short of totalitarian methods such as have been applied in the past during wartime.

THE BOOK CORNER

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Naturalist James Woodford suggests in his new book, The Violated Vision, that the federal government declare all of Canada north of the 60th parallel a "park"—"Top of the World Park."

A author Woodford, whose book is subtitled The Rape of Canada's North, advocates a go-slow policy in introduction of technology into the North. "... Latter-day robber barons, aided and abetted and encouraged by prodigious politicians and obsequious bureaucrats, are staging an unprecedented industrial invasion—using 20th-century technology guided by 19th-century philosophy," he writes.

The naturalist argues that there is no immediate need for exploiting the mineral and petroleum resources of the North before adequate study of what such exploitation may do to the ecology of the region.

PROPOSES CONTROLS
His suggestion is to pay off the corporate interests which have invested in the area of the proposed park—it would take in all of the Yukon and Northwest Territories plus the northern tips of Quebec and Labrador.

"Resource development would be allowed in the park; in fact it would be encouraged—but under new rules."

Enterprises would have to prove to a proposed Council on Ecological and Economic Affairs that their projects could get along without substantial government support and would be ecologically sound.

"Thus the North would be developed gradually, on a rational basis—allowing only those developments that are in the public interest, and keeping out those designed primarily to enrich the entrepreneur, often at public expense."

Author Woodford, 42, resigned in 1969 as executive director of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists and as editor of the Ontario Naturalist magazine to write about ecological matters.

Some Beer And Wine Prices May Go Up In Next Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — Prices for at least some wines and beer may increase after the next federal budget, depending on government moves to eliminate alleged taxation inequities.

At the same time, there are federal government plans to attack alcoholism in co-operation with the provinces.

Industry sources say there is a connection between the two and a strong possibility of higher taxes for some wines and beer due to two apparently unrelated recent government moves.

A cabinet order Nov. 16 approved effective Dec. 8 a new food and drug directorate definition for malt liquor. This defines the beer-like beverage as containing between 5.6 and 8.5 per cent of alcohol by volume, a higher content than that for ordinary beer.

And, Health Minister John Munro last week said talks are being conducted with the provinces on possible joint anti-alcoholism projects.

TAX BY STRENGTH
Industry sources say they envisage tax changes that will help encourage the public to drink more of a new beer with lower alcoholic content. They forecast moves toward taxation more fully geared to the alcoholic content of beverages—the more alcohol, more tax.

The government, of course, is saying nothing about its budget tax plans, or even if there will be a budget before the next general election still expected this year.

But brewery and distillery spokesmen say Revenue Minister Herb Gray has acknowledged inequities in the way taxes affect some alcoholic beverages and plans to act.

The new food and drug definitions, plus the Munro proposals for federal-provincial action, are being interpreted as step one in this program.

The two-front government plan stems from protests by the distillery industry some years ago over the introduction of fortified wines in some areas.

There are wines with alcohol added to bring content as high as 20 per cent by volume, almost one-half the strength of spirits and about twice the strength of ordinary table wine.

UPSET AT TAX RATES
The distillers protested that while the wine industry was producing a strong drink, it was being taxed at only 55 cents a gallon, only 10 cents more than beer. The federal tax on spirits, which takes into account the alcohol content, is 14.5 per cent.

The distillers' argument was reinforced by the introduction in British Columbia and Quebec of a strong beer.

In B.C., brewer Ben Ginter produced what he called a malt liquor that was up to 12 per cent alcohol by volume.

Non-drinking Premier

W. A. C. Bennett told Mr. Ginter through the B.C. Liquor Control Board to bring his beverage down to 5.5 per cent.

The strong beer in Quebec is about 6.5 per cent by volume. No other province now has a beer over 5.5 per cent.

Meanwhile, the federal government came under fire from provincial health ministers who said Ottawa was collecting revenue from beer, wine and spirits, but leaving the provinces with the bill for alcoholism.

REGULATIONS NEW
Up to last December, there were no regulations defining the upper limits of the alcohol content of beer, ale or stout.

The food and drug defined light beer in the past as anything up to 2.6 per cent alcohol by volume. Anything above that was defined as beer, stout or ale.

Since December 8, the administration has defined beer as having a content of 2.6 per cent to 5.5 per cent alcohol by volume. It has established a new category for malt liquor—between 5.6 per cent and 8.5 per cent.

The brewing industry has until June to effect necessary changes.

Meanwhile, the consumer affairs department is expected to issue regulations requiring the percentage of alcohol to be printed on labels of beer, wine and spirits.

Officials of the two departments say the moves are designed to protect the customer.

Both brewery and distillery sources say there is more than simple consumer protection involved.

OFFICIALS CREDITED

They say they see the definition of malt liquor as being inspired by taxation officials who have acknowledged distillery complaints about present inequities in taxation. The industry feels that even without the strong wines and beers, spirits are taxed too high when compared with other alcoholic beverages.

Local alcohol beer has been introduced in B.C., Alberta and Quebec by some breweries. In B.C. it is about 3.9 per cent by volume and in Quebec about 3.6 per cent.

Brewery officials say the beer has all the characteristics—taste, smell and appearance—of strong beer.

Alberta has accepted the principle of taxation by alcohol content with a price system in its liquor stores, and distillers and brewers say they foresee the federal government eventually accepting the same principle.

Eventually, they say, there will be one taxation system for all three beverages.

Cape Breton Claims A Number Of Firsts

By BOB BOWMAN

Cape Breton is only a small part of Canada but it has been the scene of events of world importance. Marconi sent the first wireless signal across the Atlantic from west to east in 1902, using a transmitter at Glace Bay.

In 1909 Alexander Graham Bell and associates flew the first aircraft in the British Commonwealth at Baddeck.

U.S. Admiral Robert Peary used Sydney as a base for his trip to the North Pole which he reached on April 6, 1909.

Sydney Mines claims to have operated the first railway and the first dial telephones in Canada.

These claims are disputed by Quebec and Alberta. The first passenger railway is generally acknowledged to have been the Champlain and St. Lawrence between La Prairie and St. John's, Que., in 1836. However Albion mine near Sydney had a railway about the same time and its locomotives burned coal. That was definitely a first.

The first dial telephones in Canada, in fact in North America, are claimed by Edmonton, which got them in operation April 5, 1908. Once again Sydney Mines hurries a challenge and says it had them even before 1908. Perhaps the "first" depends on whether the phones were for general use by the public. In that case Edmonton should be the winner.

OTHER APRIL 5 EVENTS

1832—Brockville, Ont., was incorporated.

THE I. T. AND T. CASE

Dita Beard Just One Of Many 'Invisible' Washington Lobbyists

WASHINGTON (Reuter) —

Dita Davis Beard, controversial Washington representative of the giant International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., is one of an estimated 1,200 lobbyists trying to influence Congress and the government behind the scenes before major decisions are made.

The lobbyists, who most of the time are invisible but occasionally emerge as stars of political scandals, came under renewed scrutiny when Mrs. Beard, 53, was catapulted into the national spotlight at a Senate committee's investigation of an alleged political pay-off by ITT.

The investigation opened this month in the Senate Judiciary committee after syndicated columnist Jack Anderson charged that Richard M. Nixon, awaiting Senate confirmation of his nomination as attorney-general, played a role in settling an anti-trust suit against ITT out of court.

Anderson alleged—and ITT and the Justice department denied—the settlement followed a pledge by an ITT subsidiary to provide financial support for the Republican convention expected to nominate President Nixon for the party's presidential candidate in the general election next November.

PRODUCED MEMO

Anderson produced a memorandum he said was written by Mrs. Beard about her contacts with top Justice department officials on the issue.

Beard has felt the full brunt of publicity in a field where success usually depends as much on the ability of a lobbyist to operate inobtrusively as on the effectiveness of stating a case.

Lobbying is legally defined as soliciting of money or anything of value to be used principally to secure or influence the passage or defeat of any legislation by Congress.

But with the vast expansion of the federal government since the Second World War, the word now is used both in that sense and also more broadly as a description of all attempts to influence any government agency or official.

Lobbyists are required to register with Congress, and the number of more than 6,000 associations and individuals are now on file.

About 400 are registered with the Justice department as lobbyists for foreign interests, including non-diplomatic representatives of foreign governments.

SOME HIGHLY PAID

Some lobbyists earn up to $100,000 a year plus expenses for representing big business and other major groups, among them the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, and the AFL-CIO.

Small and unorganized groups also have lobbyists—such as the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Indian tribes, and philanthropic, religious and educational associations.

Lobbying as a profession is legal and ethical, with lobbyists exercising the constitutional right of diverse interests to petition Congress and the government.

Methods used by lobbyists are almost as varied as their causes. Some appeal to congressmen and government officials on a purely personal basis, as friends to friends.

Others play on political affiliations; many go in for lavish entertaining to produce a seductive atmosphere to help a cause they think is perfectly proper in any case.

TOO MANY LOOPHOLES

Political observers say there is not a shred of evidence that the vote of any congressman has been bought although there is general agreement that the lobbying laws have too many loopholes and are easily abused.

The most common form of lobbying is that of simply appearing before a congressional committee or speaking to individual members in an attempt to bring them to an understanding of the position of their employers and to press them to support that position.

Many lobbyists are ghost-writers for speeches delivered by congressmen, and also draw up bills introduced into the Senate or House of Representatives.

Others aim their appeals at middle-rank civil servants, whose studies and reports lay the basis for major decisions by the government that might benefit business by millions of dollars or help a group whose only aim is to win more funds for medical or scientific research.

Surprise Party Honoring Mr. And Mrs. Nelson Clow

A surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, Caramillo Heights, honored long time residents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Clow on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Hamilton Lachelt emceed the evening and Walter Hobbs, who paid tribute to the honored couple, presented them with a beautiful wall clock and crystal compote on behalf of the 40 guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Clow have made their home in Kelowna since 1944 at which time they purchased the Blue Bird Bay Resort, which they have owned and operated since that time.

Congratulatory messages were read from friends and relatives unable to be present as well as from Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau, Lieut.-Governor John Nicholson, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor Hilbert Roth of Kelowna. The latter also presented a silver spoon on behalf of the city.

During the evening a sing song was enjoyed with Mrs. Frank Watson at the piano and Mrs. Arthur Lynn and George Reed led the singing. Games were also played to complete the evening.

A specially decorated anniversary cake highlighted the refreshments served by Elizabeth Reed, Jennifer Favali and Mrs. Hamilton Lachelt.

Mrs. Jack Trewitt and Mrs. Walter Hobbs poured the tea and coffee and the hostess, Mrs. George Reed, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ben Liebrecht with lunch arrangements.

ALBERTA

Mrs. Clow, the former Clara Jeanette Wilkie, was born in Windsor Mills, Que. and Nelson Elliott Clow was born at Verdun, Man. They were married on April 3, 1922 at the home of Mrs. Clow's uncle, Calvin Campbell who was one of the early pioneers in the Grand Prairie area in northern Alberta. They homesteaded for four and a half years in the Beaverlodge district of Alberta; 40 miles from a doctor, hospital and railroad.

They later operated a butcher shop at Clairmont near Grande

Prairie and then moved to Wembley where they operated a butcher shop during the time the steel was being extended westward eventually to Dawson Creek. With the extension of the steel, a little townsite sprang up called Hualien, named after Hugh Allen the local member of the legislature of that area. Nelson and Clara then took up residence there in 1928 and established a general store. They also operated the post office in conjunction with their store for 15 years until the fall of 1943. They were both active community workers.

Mrs. Clow was a news reporter during that time for the Northern Tribune, published at Grande Prairie and wrote many articles on economic affairs during those "hungry 30s."

Once again it was time to pull up stakes, this time to the beautiful Okanagan Valley and to the very small city of Kelowna. From that time on they have operated the resort which they still own.

Residents Of David Lloyd-Jones Enjoy Easter Message By 'Army'

The 15 minute prelude by the Salvation Army Band on Sunday afternoon in the David Lloyd-Jones Home was most enjoyable with the band playing many well loved Easter hymns. Captain Pell presided and the service was opened by the audience joining in singing two hymns, Christ The Lord Is Risen Today and How Great Thou Art, with Mrs. Ella Harris as pianist.

Captain Pell gave a reading entitled The Legend of the Easter Lily, telling how it grew from a tiny seed and after a long hard struggle grew to a great height, finally blooming in all its glory on Easter Sunday morning, a true symbol of the resurrection and immortality.

A solo by Mrs. Pell, How Sweet The Name of Jesus Sounds, was accompanied by the band. Low in the Grave He Lay was sung and Captain Pell gave his Easter message followed by prayer.

Following the closing hymn, Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross and the benediction, the Army distributed Easter goodies to all present.

Two other groups visited the home during the week, the musical Grauman family sang a number of Easter hymns and Blessing, was played by the trio. Linda, on the trumpet, Karen, accordion and Norman, bass guitar.

A duet by Mr. and Mrs. Grauman, Happy Day, a poem by Karen and a solo by Lawrence Grauman, Dearly, Dearly Have I Loved and other hymns were sung. An address by Mr. Grauman and prayers closed the meeting.

A small group from the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Rutland also gave a short program with Leonard Kapinjak, as director and Debbie Ferster as pianist. The residents of the Home enjoyed the Easter parade by Victory Motors on Saturday with the gaily decorated cars and bunnies.

Activities At Discovery Club Expand With Membership

The latest achievement by the members of the Discovery Club was a pre-Easter party when everyone donned colorful crepe paper sunbonnets and hats which they had trimmed with gay flowers, ribbons and bows, and staged a fashion parade to the tune of "The Easter Parade" played by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dann on the piano and violin.

The party tea tables were decorated with pale green covers and serviettes with a centerpiece of yellow forsythia donated by Mrs. L. Black for the special occasion. A variety of dainties and candy were also donated by relatives and volunteers to accompany the traditional hot cross buns for the festive season. Afternoon tea was prepared and served by Jack Travers and Howard Goodin, former camp chefs, assisted by volunteers.

A sing-song was enjoyed by all ages in the club, with request numbers from blind members and others. The singing was led by Mrs. Bernadette Bertrand (volunteer) with spontaneous solos by Mary Rosovsky. Mrs. Ida Rounds — 89 years old — was honored by the members with the singing of Happy Birthday. John Norquay — 96 years old, entertained the members during the afternoon by playing old familiar tunes on his violin.

The Discovery Club is open every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. in St. David's Presbyterian Church hall, corner of Sutherland and Pandosy. The regular programs include a variety of crafts, as well as instructions given by members in knitting and crocheting by Mrs. Fred Snead and Tene-riffe work by Marjorie F. Hayward. Liquid embroidery is also popular with the members. Rug hooking, creative wall panels and other new crafts will be introduced in the near future. A donation (or loan) of a wool cutter for rugs will be greatly appreciated, also donations of ends of heavy wool suitable for rugs. Cribbage, checkers, bridge, whist and rummy are favorite pastimes for members.

Mrs. Margaret Reid, CNIB Rehabilitation teacher, located at Penticon, will be instructing in crafts and braille for the blind one afternoon each month.

The Discovery Club is sponsored by the Kelowna Branch of Mental Health Canada, which is a Community Chest agency. New members which also include arthritides, blind, disabled, handicapped and boarding home residents will be welcomed by Mrs. J. A. Rigate, co-ordinator, assisted by Mrs. E. J. Foot and Mrs. R. R. Brown and volunteers.

More volunteer drivers to take members to and from the Discovery Club will be greatly appreciated in order to promote this worthwhile community project.

Brittle Hair And Split Ends Signs Of Nutritional Deficiency

Q. What can I do about brittle hair and split ends?

A. "I would suggest cutting it shorter and, again, feed the hair with protein. Often it's an inner nutritional deficiency that's at fault rather than an outer 'cosmetic' reason."

Q. Several times a year I lose a great deal of hair. Is this serious?

A. "Human beings are a lot like nature. Just as every fall the trees lose their leaves, several times yearly the roots shed old hair in order to grow new stronger hair. Of course, as you grow older, some of the roots, like the trees, die out. But still we're provided with enough live and strong roots to replenish the over-all amount of hair. If, however, the fallout is of a permanent nature (through heredity or other factors), massage and conditioning can often arrest the loss. In really serious cases, a conscientious hairdresser would recommend a dermatologist. There are many new treatments available today to prevent drastic loss, even though nobody has figured out how to grow new hair yet.

Q. How many times can I change the color of my hair without harming it?

A. "Don't do it too often — you'll be a sorry girl."

ANN LANDERS

A Real Man Enjoys Success In Others

Dear Ann Landers: Psychologists say both boys and girls in our society need a strong male image. I'd like to know: what is a real man? Definitions differ sharply. Teeny-boppers think a man is any male who turns them on. It's the sex thing.

The great American tradition pegs man at the level of his physical prowess. The football hero, the heavyweight champion, the muscle man. (Never mind that sometimes the muscles are in his head.) It's the body beautiful that counts. And he'd better be tall.

The advertising industry has done its best to promote the manly image as a guy who wears this, drinks that, sports a certain brand of shorts, uses a special after-shave lotion and smokes the longest cigarette.

I wish you, Ann Landers, would come up with a few guidelines to help the confused and the glibbie. What, in your opinion, is a real man?—All Ears

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter from the Family Man Who Made the Switch.

That built-in radar talk is a fairy tale. It's true you can spot a queen if he follows the chartered dress code or gives you a wink or throws you a kiss, but if he's a hunch number and plays it straight there is no way he can be figured.

As for the closet queen who made the switch, there are two possibilities. Either he was a fairy princess looking for extra kicks, but no queen, or he's operating on different currents, both A.C. and D.C., in which case he's skilled at the game and sends out no signals. Particularly is he not signaling the boys in the band because the last thing he needs is to have his wife catch him.—Fish With Feathers

Dear Fish: You sound as if you're well wired in to both worlds. I'll take your word for it.

The medal, an award of the Royal Canadian Geographical Society, was presented to the 54-year-old geographer by Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener at a Government House ceremony.

Born in Edinburgh, Miss Dunbar obtained a master's degree in geography from Oxford University.

She came to Canada in 1947 and joined the Defence Research Board scientific staff. She is still with the research board.

She has travelled throughout the Canadian Arctic and has contributed to knowledge of ice distribution and the interpretation of ice in photographs.

In 1969, Miss Dunbar was an observer on the Canadian escort icebreaker during the voyage of the tanker Manhattan through Arctic waters.

Ottawa Plans Big Briefing For Foreign Businessmen

OTTAWA (CP) — Fifty top international businessmen will be given background briefings by members of the federal cabinet during a three-day conference opening here April 17, a government spokesman said today.

Prime Minister Trudeau and about 20 of his ministers will attend various sessions in the government's official conference centre—Ottawa's old downtown railway station now converted to meeting rooms and reception halls.

While the meeting is being arranged by a private organization, Business International Executive Services of New York, the government is facilitating it because of the importance of the people involved.

The meeting was arranged "several months ago," and was not specifically timed to come on the heels of President Nixon's visit here, April 13-15.

MEET EVERY YEAR

Neither is the businessmen's meeting arranged to coincide with the impending announcement of new government policy governing foreign ownership of Canadian industry, the spokesman said. No date has been fixed for announcement of that policy, he added.

The Business International group meets in various countries each year. It met last year in Russia, and last met here in 1963.

The conference is "not particularly" intended to discuss foreign ownership, the spokesman said. All aspects of government policy will be discussed.

It is an opportunity to describe government policy to a lot of people who should know what it is," he said.

The 50 foreign businessmen involved are expected to be leading executive officers of multinational corporations, operating in Canada and elsewhere, with head offices in the U.S. Canadians are not necessarily excluded from the meeting, and representatives of some Canadian-based entities from the meeting, and representatives of some Canadian-based international corporations likely will attend.

At last report, the government's statement of foreign ownership policy was still subject to final drafting.

An early draft of the statement, which became known as the Gray report because Revenue Minister Herb Gray is in charge of its preparation, was leaked to Canadian Forum magazine last year.

That draft, which since has probably been extensively rewritten, proposed that an agency be set up by the federal government to screen foreign investment for the purpose of seeing that Canadian control is not seriously eroded.

The government spokesman said today he "wouldn't like to speculate" on when the foreign ownership policy will be announced.

Inquest Ordered For April 21 In Ontario Youth's Suicide

BRIGHTON, Ont. (CP) — An inquest has been set for April 21 into the suicide of a Brighton youth—one of three teen-age suicides believed linked to drugs.

The inquest was ordered by Brighton Coroner Dr. W. O. Elliot after Robert Young, 16, died from a gunshot blast at the home of his parents Feb. 6.

His death was preceded by the shotgun suicides of two of his friends. At the time of Robert's death, Dr. Elliot said: "There is a strong possibility that marijuana and LSD were factors in these deaths."

Harold Rath, 17, killed himself with a shotgun Dec. 30 at his home in Colborne, 10 miles

Mississauga Mayor, 56, Dies Three Months After Heart Op

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Robert Speck, 56-year-old mayor of neighboring Mississauga, died today a little more than three months after receiving a heart transplant.

He returned to the hospital Monday night complaining of stomach pains after going home last Friday. His wife said at that time he was still weak but up and about and happy to be home.

There were no details on the cause of death.

The mayor received the heart of 14-year-old Richard Wolniewicz last Dec. 20 after the boy, died from injuries when hit by a subway train.

He was the first heart transplant patient of St. Michael's to die. Two others, Charles Perrin Johnston, who underwent surgery Nov. 17, 1968, and Rev. Edward Madigan, who received a new heart in April, 1970, are still alive.

HAD THREE ATTACKS

A St. Michael's surgical team headed by Dr. Clare Baker performed the three-hour operation on Mr. Speck. He had been in hospital much of the time since suffering his third heart attack in January, 1971.

The third Canadian heart transplant survivor is John Parkinson of Montreal, who received his heart Nov. 3, 1968.

Since the first heart transplant in 1966 there have been 187 such operations in the world. Twenty-eight patients survive.

While in hospital he was elected by acclamation to his second term of office. In the months afterward most of his civic duties were handled by Mississauga Reeve Charles Murray.

The Wolniewicz boy was a few days away from his 15th birthday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolniewicz, who had been planning a birthday party, gave permission for his heart, kidneys and eye corneas to be donated to others.

"I thought, if he can help someone else, let-it be God's will," said Mr. Wolniewicz.

He was the 17th heart trans-

He Still Doesn't Like Dogs . . .

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Dennis Quenneville, a man who never liked dogs, saw no reason to change his mind after an afternoon in jail Easter Monday.

It all began, he explained Tuesday, when a mongrel dog named Snoopy wandered into the Quenneville yard in nearby Emeryville last summer.

"My wife Sandra's grandfather . . . became friendly with him."

"Grandfather didn't know he needed a dogtag. He didn't even own the dog. But someone must have phoned Maidstone Township office and told them we owned it."

Mr. Quenneville received a letter telling him to buy a dog licence. He ignored it and a summons followed.

After receiving a second summons in October, he telephoned to explain that the dog didn't belong to him.

REDUCE FINE

When he was told he had been fined $22, he went to Windsor and saw the judge, who said the fine was reduced to $1, payable Dec. 31.

"On Dec. 30 I went to the division court to pay the dollar and was told it was too late. I showed them the judge's letter saying I had to Dec. 31 but it was no use."

Easter Monday when a provincial police officer arrived with a warrant for Mr. Quenneville's arrest and took him off to jail.

"They stripped me and put me in a shower and gave me a uniform. They told me I was in for 15 days and that I would start work in the Snoopy now has found a home with Mrs. Quenneville's brother, who is buying him a licence.

Mr. Quenneville still doesn't like dogs.

Stage Set For Quarter-Finals Kelowna Bantam Team Ousted

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—The stage is set for the quarter-finals of the championship round of the Kamloops International Bantam Hockey tournament. Burnaby minor hockey edged Coquitlam 3-2 in overtime Tuesday to earn the final berth in the A section playoffs. Kerry Gladson scored at 7:58 of overtime to put Burnaby in the quarter-finals.

In other A section games, Calgary Bantam Stampeders led Grande Prairie, Alta., 3-1 after two periods and then hung on for a 3-2 victory. In B section play, the Federation of Saskatchewan Indians dumped Port Alberni 7-2 behind the four-goal effort of Lyle Accoe.

Comox came up with a 7-5 victory over Esquimalt with Steve Jones scoring three goals for Comox.

Weyburn Comets scored five goals in the third period to defeat Cranbrook, B.C., 5-1.

Cranbrook was leading 1-0 going into the third period. Brian Hill scored three goals for the Saskatchewan team.

Prince George, B.C., took a 1-0 first-period lead over Dawson Creek, B.C., and went on to win 2-1.

In the C section, Quesnel, B.C. bantam all-stars took a 3-0 lead in the first period and coasted to a 5-1 victory over Kelowna, B.C. North Vancouver minor hockey associated doubled Victoria 4-2. Portland, Ore., defeated Vanderhoof, B.C., 6-4. Richmond, B.C., edged Lethbridge, Alta., 4-3 with Eric Wolfe scoring three goals for the winners.

The eight teams that have qualified for the quarter-finals of the A section are Burnaby Minor Hockey, Calgary, Sarnia, Ont., Toronto, Melville, Sask., Vancouver North Shore, Winnipeg East Kildonan and Boston Malden.

Nine teams have been eliminated. They are Lethbridge, Kelowna, Grande Prairie, Alta., Kelowna, Esquimalt, Victoria, Cranbrook, Vanderhoof and Dawson Creek.

Thirty-six teams were entered in the tournament which opened last Friday and continues to next Friday.

In action last Tuesday, the host Kamloops club remained alive in the C section by defeating Saskatoon 5-1. The Williams Lake, B.C. bantam all-stars eliminated the Federation of Saskatchewan Indians by a 5-2 score.

Longshot Has Best Chance

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The signpost of recent history, if that can be accepted as a guide, points to a mild longshot as the winner of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Tony Jacklin are the names that leap to mind when the favorite's role in this championship is mentioned.

The only Canadian entered is Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., U.S. amateur champion.

Four of the last five winners have come from the ranks.

All four—Gary Brewer, Bob Goalby, George Archer and Charles Coody—have been solidly established competitors, toughened and tested in the grinding demands of the American professional golf tour.

They fit the category. All are solid, long-established professional competitors. None has won a major title, though all are proved winners on the pro tour.

Welskopf may be the No. 1 man in the group.

"I think I've finally grown up a little," Welskopf said earlier this year when he won the Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic. He pulled down $52,000 in that triumph, the richest event on the tour this year and his third title in less than two years.

JUNIOR PLAYER CHARGED OTTAWA (CP)—Police today charged defenceman David Hutchinson, 19, of London Knights of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series with assault causing bodily harm on Raymond Anllila following a post-game brawl here last Friday.

Police said the charge was laid following an investigation which included a study of film taken of the game and an ensuing fight between Ottawa 67s, and Knights fans.

Anllila, 18, an Ottawa defenceman, was sent to hospital with facial lacerations and a concussion.

No Baseball Season Game Today, Folks Owners Toss Ball To Striking Players

CHICAGO (AP)—Terming the demand for a 17-per-cent increase in pension benefits "totally unreasonable," baseball's 24 major league teams posted "No Game Today" signs at their ballparks and tossed the ball back to their striking players on what was to have been opening day of the 1972 season.

After an emergency five-hour meeting at which all of the clubs were represented, John Gaherin, negotiator for the owners, reported that the teams had reaffirmed the position of their player relations committee, which had earlier turned down the players' proposal to end the strike.

"There was no sentiment to accept the players' proposal," said Gaherin, looking grim and worn. "The whole matter of a 17-per-cent increase in pension benefits is totally unreasonable, even in the light of the players' cost-of-living argument, which is not applicable in pension plan negotiations."

The players had offered to return to work Monday, accepting the owners' original $490,000 increase for their health-care package provided they could use the surplus in their $45 million fund for pension improvements. That proposal was rejected as "an imprudent approach" by the player relations committee and that rejection was unanimously endorsed by the 24 clubs in Tuesday night's meeting.

WANT PLAYERS BACK "We are calling on the players' association in the interest of the public and the game of baseball to have the players rejoin their clubs so that the season may commence as soon as practicable," said Gaherin.

"It would certainly be an advantage to all concerned to get the season started," said Gaherin. "There's no reason why this matter can't be dealt with that way."

Gaherin said he would attempt to resume negotiations with Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, today.

"I'll call him in the morning, if I can find him," Gaherin said.

Miller was in Cincinnati Tuesday night to meet with Reds players. Earlier Tuesday, the Cincinnati club officially postponed today's game against Houston Astros which was to open the 1972 season.

Miller was reported to be on his way to Baltimore this morning.

HAS NO PROPOSAL Gaherin said he had no new proposal to bring to the players.

"We will wait until we hear something reasonable within the realm of possibility," the owners' representative said.

"There is nothing requiring that you make proposals," Gaherin said. "We'll wait and listen for one."

Gaherin indicated that the owners might accept some increase in pension benefits, but that the 17 per cent demanded by the players was too high.

"That's not the kind of thing you negotiate in a news conference," he said.

No Over-Confidence Shown As Cup Quarter-Finals Start

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Eight National Hockey League teams move into playoff action tonight with a lot of hope, some optimism but not a shred of over-confidence showing anywhere.

"I've learned in the past that you never want to feel you're in the driver's seat," said general manager Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins, who play host to Toronto Maple Leafs.

"Toronto has always been a good playoff team, and older guys like Norm Ullman, Jacques Plante and Bob Baun will instill plenty of desire in those kids."

Montreal Canadiens eliminated the Bruins in the quarter-final last year and are regarded by some as having a good chance to do the same to New York Rangers this year, but Canadiens coach Scotty Bowman is shying away from such predictions.

"There are so many factors involved," said Bowman. "Games are played in a hurried manner—four games in five nights—injuries to contend with and I don't think anyone that makes predictions can base it on sound judgment."

STARS FAVORED And Minnesota North Stars, who were underdogs when they beat St. Louis Blues in the quarter-final last year, are favored this time but won't admit it.

"I don't know whether there is such a thing as a favorite or underdog in the playoffs," said

Good Night For Two Goaltenders But Two Others Regret Playing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS It was a good night for goaltenders Roger Swanson of Flin Flon Bombers and John Davidson of Calgary Centennials but a pair of Brandon Wheat Kings netminders would just as soon forget they even played Tuesday.

Davidson backstopped Calgary to a 3-1 win over the Tigers in Medicine Hat to tie their best-of-seven Western Canada Hockey League quarter-final series 2-2.

Swanson kicked out 43 shots to give the Bombers a hard-fought 5-3 win over the Pats in Regina and a 2-0 lead in that quarter-final.

But in Saskatoon the Wheat Kings continued to exhibit their inability to play well on the road as the Blades humiliated Brandon 12-2 to take a 2-1 lead in the series.

The three series will resume Friday night in Regina, Calgary and Winnipeg. Brandon is playing its home game in Winnipeg, Edmonton Oil Kings, leading 3-1, will try to wrap up their series with New Westminster Bruins next Tuesday.

Dave McLelland and George Silva faced 60 shots in the Brandon net compared with 27 for Saskatoon's Don Atchison.

Blades' captain Lawrence Scharuk led the offensive explosion before 4,013 fans with three goals. Tom Pinder and Murray Meyers added two each and Doug Walker, Byron Jackson, Russ Manchuk, Don McLeod and Bill Laing got the others.

Gord Laue and Robbie Neale replied for Brandon.

The Blades grabbed a 3-1 first period lead and ran the count to 8-2 in the second period as the Wheat Kings also continued their second period letdown.

Saskatoon took five of nine minor penalties.

Davidson, the leading netminder in the league this season, kicked out 50 of the 51 shots he faced, including 20 of 21 in the third period.

Calgary had period leads of 1-0 and 2-0 as they managed a total of 25 shots at Medicine Hat rookie Jerry Thomas.

Jim Watson, Mike Rogers and Doug Horbul scored for Calgary to pull the western division's regular schedule champions into a series tie after losing the first two games.

Jeff Ablett's goal midway through the final period spoiled Davidson bid for a shutout in front of 4,484 spectators.

Calgary took 10 of 17 penalties including one of three majors.

In Regina Dave Scharuk scored a pair of goals and Swanson turned aside 43 shots to give the Bombers their two-game lead over the eastern division's regular schedule titlists.

At Hillier, Blaine Slough and Ray Maluta got the other Flin Flon goals in the rough game that saw referee Joe Cassidy of Calgary hand out four major penalties and five game misconducts.

Dennis Sobchuk, Scott Smith and Mike Manchuk replied for Regina.

The game was less than 30 seconds old before Cassidy had sent Jack McIlhargey of Flin Flon and Dwight Blalows of Regina back to the dressing room for joining in a fight between Sobchuk and Dennis Poniach of the Bombers.

DAWSON SIGNS KANSAS CITY (AP)—Quarterback Len Dawson today signed a new two-year contract with Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League, ending speculation that the 15-year pro football veteran might retire.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but it was believed Dawson's new salary would put him in the $100,000-a-year bracket.

IN SWEDEN, YOU DRIVE A GOOD CAR. OR ELSE.

Cars in Sweden are subject to spot inspections at any time. It's part of a continuing campaign to rid the road of defective cars. Any car that fails is taken off the road.

Cars over one year old have to go through the annual automobile inspections as well. And it isn't easy. 200 components are thoroughly examined. If your car fails, you're either served with a summons ordering you to have it fixed. Fast. Or you're forbidden to drive it at all. It has to be towed away.

So when Swedes buy a new car, how well it will do in the inspections is one of their biggest concerns. And they can get a good idea of just how well that will be. Published reports give the results on all cars sold in Sweden.

Obviously, these reports can really hurt an automobile manufacturer if they're bad. Or really help him if they're good.

The largest selling car in Sweden is Volvo.

You see, when we build a Volvo, how well it will do in the inspections is one of our biggest concerns too.

Volvo. We build them the way we build them because we have to.

Esposito Picks Up Paycheck Third Time For Classy Scorer

MONTREAL (CP) — For the third time in four seasons, centre Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins has walked off with the National Hockey League's individual scoring championship. But for the first time since the 1923-27 season, when the NHL began tabulating assists, the scoring leader did not play in his team's final game of the season.

And Sunday night's win of the 78-game regular season schedule marked the first time in those 45 seasons that the three leaders atop the spring list all missed some games during the season.

Esposito finished with 133 points, including 66 goals, both marks the second-highest ever acquired. The Boston centre set goals and 76 assists for 152 points last season with 76 points. This season he finished 16 points ahead of teammate Bobby Orr, whose 117 points included a league-leading 80 assists and a record-tying 37 goals for a defenceman, a mark established by Orr last season.

Centre Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers, who missed the last 15 games of the season with a broken ankle, was third with 109 points. Esposito and Orr both missed Boston's final two games because of injuries, which, however, are not expected to keep them out of the Stanley Cup quarter-final round against Toronto Maple Leafs, starting in Boston Wednesday night.

For his efforts, Esposito collects a total of $1,750 in award money from the league, broken down as follows: $1,000 as the Art Ross Trophy winner presented annually to the top scorer; $500 as second-half leader (65 points) and $250 as runner-up to Ratelle in the first half of the schedule.

Orr receives $500 as over-all runner-up to Esposito, plus $250 as runner-up in the second half.

The league's top goaltending award, the Vezina Trophy, went to Tony Esposito, Phil's younger brother, and Gary Smith of Chicago Black Hawks, each of whom played at least the minimum 25 games required for official recognition. The Chicago goals-against total was 166, for an average of 2.12.

The award money that goes with the Vezina is $1,500. The Hawks also receive an additional $500—$250 for each half of the schedule in which they led all goaltenders. The Minnesota combination of Gump Worsley and Cesare Maniago receives $750 as over-all runners-up for their work with the North Stars. The Minnesota combination posted a goals-against total of 191, one fewer than New York Rangers' Ed Giacomin and Gilles Villemure.

Different Times For Contests In Cup Quarter-Final Playoffs

MONTREAL (CP) — The Stanley Cup playoffs, which start in four different cities—Boston, New York, Chicago and Minneapolis—tonight, show a variety of game times.

All four quarter-final series are best-of-seven affairs.

Series A, which pits Toronto Maple Leafs against the Bruins in Boston have the Wednesday and Thursday night contests scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. EST. The clubs then swing back to Toronto for an 8:05 p.m. EST Saturday game and a 7:05 p.m. EST Sunday's fourth game.

Meanwhile, Montreal Canadiens play their first two games in series B Wednesday and Thursday night in New York against the Rangers starting at 7:35 p.m. and 8:05 p.m. EST respectively. The action swings back to Montreal for a pair of games Saturday and Sunday nights—both with an 8:05 p.m. EST faceoff time.

The West Division's series C has Pittsburgh Penguins visiting Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday and Thursday nights, both scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. EST. The series swings back to Pittsburgh for an 8:05 p.m. EST Saturday contest and a 7:05 p.m. EST start Sunday.

The series D quarter-final round between St. Louis Blues and Minnesota North Stars is still lacking starting times for the third and fourth games. So far the Blues visit the North Stars Wednesday and Thursday nights, with both games set to start at 9:05 p.m. EST.

The Saturday and Sunday starting times for the two clubs at St. Louis are not known because of possible television commitments, an NHL spokesman said Tuesday.

There will be a CBS television game carried in the U.S. each Sunday afternoon during the playoffs.

Edge To Leafs Plante Skeptic

TORONTO (CP)—The Stanley Cup record book shows Toronto Maple Leafs with an 8-3 edge over Boston Bruins in their 11 National Hockey League playoff series since 1933, but few expect the Toronto edge to grow this year.

The Leafs open their 1972 best-of-seven quarter-final in Boston Wednesday night, and as goalie Jacques Plante puts it, "We've all got to give 110 per cent" to get past the Bruins.

Over the years, the Leafs have won 30 playoff games to eliminate the Bruins in seven league semi-finals and one quarter-final. The Bruins won a final from Toronto in 1939, a semi-final in 1941 and two years ago whipped the Leafs in four straight games of a quarter-final.

Last year, the Bruins were dumped by Montreal Canadiens in the quarter-final.

"Don't compare this Maple Leaf team with Montreal," warned Plante after a Toronto practice session Monday. "CAN'T SCORE LIKE THEM."

"That Montreal team could throw out 10 different combinations. How many can we throw out?"

"Man to man, to beat Boston, we've all got to give 110 per cent. We can't score like them, or Canadiens either."

Plante was asked if it wouldn't make some difference with Boston stars Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr limping with knee injuries.

"Do you really think Orr and Esposito are going to sit out every game of the playoffs?" asked Plante.

CHICKEN AND NOODLES

- 2½ to 3 lbs. stewing chicken, ready-to-cook weight, cut up
- 6 tbsp. flour
- ¼ cup chicken fat or other shortening
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, optional
- 2 tsp. salt
- ¼ to ½ tsp. pepper
- ¼ tsp. allspice or ginger
- ½ cup hot water
- 1 package noodles, 6 to 8 oz.
- ½ cup chopped parsley

Coat chicken with the flour. Brown in the moderately hot fat, turning to brown evenly. Sprinkle onion, garlic if used, and seasonings over chicken. Add water, cover tightly, and simmer until thickest pieces are fork-tender, 3 to 3½ hours. By this time there should be rich drippings in the pan. If the water evaporates before chicken is tender, add more water in ¼-cup portions, as needed. About 15 minutes before chicken is done, cook noodles following package directions. Drain. Meanwhile lift chicken to warm service dish. Blend noodles and parsley with the pan drippings and arrange around chicken. 6 servings.

Let's start by agreeing that I'm not going to try to say whether your pain is from a floating kidney or something else such as muscle strain. If the discomfort doesn't stop soon or hasn't already, see your doctor.

To answer your questions:
1. A floating kidney functions. The kidneys, you see, are held gently in place by fibrous tissues and a goodly padding of fat. The kidneys will descend an inch or two when you stand up. If the movement is greater than that, it is called a "floating" kidney. Loss of fat and loosening of the supporting tissues isn't unusual at your age; likewise a floating kidney is much more likely to occur in a thin person. There's less fat to hold it in place.
2. No medication will correct a floating kidney but a firm girdle frequently helps. There's no need to do anything about a floating kidney unless—as your doctors told you before—it causes trouble.
3. A floating kidney may never

Canada's Smallpox Barriers 'Should Not Be Weakened'

TORONTO (CP) — The Health League of Canada warned Tuesday that weakening smallpox vaccination regulations in Canada would be a mistake.

Dr. Gordon Bates, the League's general director, said in an interview that recent outbreaks of smallpox in Europe and Bangladesh emphasize the need for a comprehensive vaccination program.

He said some government health officials have suggested modifications in regulations because they say smallpox vaccination sometimes causes encephalitis—an inflammation of the brain.

However, Dr. Bates said, there have only been "about a dozen" cases of encephalitis reported caused by the vaccination in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom.

THOUSANDS SAVED
"What are these few cases of disability as compared to the thousands of people whose lives have been saved?" he said in a recent statement.

Dr. Bates, 85, who founded the 3,000-member organization in 1919, said health officials are considering eliminating compulsory vaccination for persons obtaining passports and possibly discontinuing child immunization.

Floating Kidneys And What To Do

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In the last few years two doctors have told me I have a floating kidney but then said that as long as it didn't bother me, not to worry. I am 70 and in very good health. Last week I took a five-hour trip on a bus and since then have not been able to get in a comfortable position in bed. The pain is rather bad, and also when I cough.

I want to know:
1. Is a floating kidney still functioning?
2. What causes a floating kidney?
3. Is there any medication to help it?
4. Will passage of time restore it to the condition before the bus trip?
5. When is an operation necessary?
6. What are the dangers of a floating kidney?—R.S.A.

Let's start by agreeing that I'm not going to try to say whether your pain is from a floating kidney or something else such as muscle strain. If the discomfort doesn't stop soon or hasn't already, see your doctor.

To answer your questions:
1. A floating kidney functions. The kidneys, you see, are held gently in place by fibrous tissues and a goodly padding of fat. The kidneys will descend an inch or two when you stand up. If the movement is greater than that, it is called a "floating" kidney. Loss of fat and loosening of the supporting tissues isn't unusual at your age; likewise a floating kidney is much more likely to occur in a thin person. There's less fat to hold it in place.
2. No medication will correct a floating kidney but a firm girdle frequently helps. There's no need to do anything about a floating kidney unless—as your doctors told you before—it causes trouble.
3. A floating kidney may never cause any symptoms. Then again it may cause an aching discomfort in the flank. An operation to "anchor" the kidney in place so that movement will be limited sometimes is done if the discomfort is persistent.

Surgery, however, becomes necessary if the movement of the kidney causes kinking of the ureter (the outlet of the kidney). If that occurs, the kinking obstructs the flow of urine and that can lead to impairment of kidney function and chronic infection.

In brief, if a floating kidney causes no symptoms, forget it. If it causes discomfort, a firm girdle usually helps and surgery may be employed if the discomfort cannot be controlled otherwise.

Truly serious problems usually occur only if movement of the "floating" kidney causes kinking of the ureter.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Thursday, Apr. 6

Aries (March 21-April 19): The simpler your approach, the better, as nothing of any complexity tends to get off the ground. Keep any remarks until later.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Most of what stirs colleagues is trivial if you let it pass, trouble if you react and get involved. Home base seems best for now.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Be sure your comments are free of recrimination. Evening hours offer reconciliation, readjustment.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Staying close to home and tending to essentials should fill most of your attention. A friend brings welcome news but needs some reassurance.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Mechanical contrivances and vehicles don't care, so it's up to you to keep control all the way. Associates pose some good questions but no answers.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your consideration and concern for others' feelings, consultations on group enterprises are pre-emptive, may be taken for granted.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Prudence is its own reward as you take on what you can handle, skipping all unnecessary conflicts. Treat news from far places as incomplete.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Intuition and thought show a way through the unexpected. Rearrangement of schedules may not be enough; some new decisions are in the works.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Tact makes the difference in the future of a connection. If you care, show it. Fresh sources of material support need development.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Changes tend to be definite, permanent. See that your contribution is both conservative and within your capacity to continue.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Remember that while you are seeing things in a certain light, others are preoccupied going through their own changes, may have no patience for yours.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The nearer the relationship the more likely is disagreement on use of material resources held in common. Romance goes low-key for the moment.

Argentine Police Press On With Hunt For Kidnapped Man

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Argentine police pressed on today with their massive search for kidnapped Fiat executive Oberdan Salustro after announcing they have arrested five of 10 persons allegedly directly involved in his abduction two weeks ago.

The police are trying to locate a new "people's prison" of the People's Revolutionary Army to which Salustro, 37, was taken when the net closed in on the kidnap gang.

A police communiqué said Monday night that 29 alleged members of the guerrilla movement have been captured in the hunt for Salustro.

Five—including two women—were directly involved in planning and executing the abduction, seven were indirectly involved and 17 others were rounded up in raids which yielded a haul of arms, explosives, wigs and false identification papers.

Despite denials by Fiat officials and the Salustro family, informed sources said the police believe some sort of negotiations are going on over the guerrillas' ransom demand of $1 million.

Police sources said a map found on an arrested extremist has provided a vital clue in the search for the missing Italian's whereabouts.

The map showed a marking of a route from the Salustro home in the Martinez suburb to the Villa Ballester suburb six miles away.

FOREIGN OWNERSHIP

Economists Explain Problem But Can't Offer Solutions

NEW YORK (CP) — Four economists from Canada described their country's continuing search for an economic policy suitable to a new era—but offered no pat solutions—in speeches to the Canadian Society of New York Tuesday night.

"There is . . . a great deal of schizophrenia" on the problem of foreign ownership of Canadian enterprises, said Harold Anthony Hampson, chairman of the Canada Development Corp.

"The differences are between those who want more foreign capital, as in the Canadian West, and those who would restrict foreign ownership, as in Ontario," said H. Ian Macdonald, deputy treasurer and deputy minister of economics of Ontario.

"The question is one of timing and priorities," said A. E. Safarian, professor of economics and dean of graduate studies at University of Toronto. "What we are about to do in Canada . . . is experiment with something much bolder than in the past."

Andre Raynald, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said the strength of the Canadian dollar in relation to the U.S. dollar is not typical of long-term trends.

"The present high rate of exchange is the result of the present Canadian recession," he said, citing the 6.4-per-cent unemployment rate in Canada in 1971 compared with 5.9 in 1970.

"If we were running our economy at full employment level, the rate of Canadian exchange would most likely go down." He explained that full employment would enhance buying power and increase the demand for imports.

Hampson, Raynald and Macdonald, together with Rodney de C. Grey, assistant deputy minister of finance for Canada, had been announced some time ago as participants in a World Trade Institute briefing scheduled for the World Trade Centre here Tuesday. The topic was to have been: How will the new Canadian nationalism affect American business in Canada?

Postponement of the briefing was announced late last month with the explanation that the subject matter remains in a state of uncertainty since the Canadian government has not yet introduced long-anticipated legislation on foreign ownership in Canada.

Professor Safarian noted the

ATTACK ON DISPARITY

DREE Is 'Going To Too Many Places'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Department of Regional Economic Expansion, command centre for the government's attack on regional disparity, may be taking the offensive in too many areas, its critics say.

Besides working to reduce regional disparity, DREE has tried to alleviate social and cultural problems with its program of incentive grants to industry.

The original designated areas—those qualifying for incentive grants—were expanded last spring to include Montreal and Cornwall, Ont.

Montreal was designated in an attempt to halt or slow an outflow of capital from the region attributed by some sources to feelings of insecurity among industrialists over the separatist scare. In effect, one DREE official agreed, Montreal was in a state of "prolonged depression."

Jean Marchand, DREE's minister, told the Commons regional development committee that due to "special circumstances," federal money would be poured into Montreal through the incentives program. "Normally we wouldn't do it,"

Senior officials are reluctant to comment on the Montreal designation. They call it a political decision which they have no right to criticize. One said that "the designation of the Montreal region was a tool available to the government at the time."

"I'm speaking about the economic aspect of the thing; what it was caused by is another question."

James McGrath, Conservative MP for St. John's, said: "They used DREE as a political lever to try to offset the rise of separatism in Quebec—they wanted a vehicle to move substantial funds into Quebec."

Although the incentives in the Atlantic provinces were theoretically raised to offset the attraction of Montreal and its well-developed infrastructure and large market, Mr. McGrath said the Atlantic advantage has disappeared.

Before the designation of the Montreal-Cornwall area, the maximum level for grants for Atlantic projects was 25 per cent of the capital cost of the project and $5,000 for each job created.

The Montreal-Cornwall area's maximum is 10 per cent and $2,000, while the Atlantic region maximum was raised to 35 per cent and $7,000, producing the same difference in terms of maximum grants as before the designation of Montreal-Cornwall.

But Atlantic grants do not reach the maximum levels permitted, giving Montreal an edge in luring industry, Mr. McGrath said.

The Montreal area also draws projects away from other Quebec areas, where the maximum has not been increased to balance Montreal's designation. During December and January, DREE approved projects that would create 4,642 Quebec jobs. Of these, 1,679 would be within 10 miles of Montreal Island.

Three "special areas" have been designated in the Prairies to help impoverished Indians at The Pas, Man., Meadow Lake, Sask., and Lesser Slave Lake, Alta. The Meadow Lake area, however, lost its major project, a sawmill that had been offered a $1.5-million grant. Saskatchewan's New Democrat government cancelled it as a waste of money after winning office last year.

TO AID INDIANS In Grande Prairie, Alta., the Procter and Gamble Co. of Canada Ltd. is to get $15.8 million for a pulp mill that is expected to create 393 jobs. A major factor in approval of the grant was that many of the jobs would go to local Indians.

Some employees of DREE's social and human analysis section say there have been no studies on whether industrialization is good for the social and cultural development of Indian communities.

Every province has been given at least a small slice of the designated-area pie.

Officers of DREE's planning and incentive divisions refused to comment on current re-evaluations of the designated areas since the decisions are made at cabinet level. Critics said they fear that politics, not objective economic factors, are the basis of decisions.

IN LANG RIDING Conservative and New Democrat critics pointed to what they call "the Humboldt jag," a westward jutting of the northern Saskatchewan designated area into the constituency of Justice Minister Otto Lang and around his home town of Humboldt.

In 1968, Mr. Lang won the Saskatoon-Humboldt riding by less than 600 votes in a tight three-way contest with New Democrat and Conservative contenders.

Harry Flemming of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council said the incentive program is no longer a regional development program.

"After all, 50 per cent of the people of Canada now are designated in one way or another and that's hardly a regional development program."

A senior incentives official offered another view of the map.

"While I will admit the more designated areas you have, the more you dilute the effect, it's not sufficient just to look at the map and say three-quarters of Canada is designated. Half of that three-quarters doesn't mean a damn thing; it's just rock and bush."

MONEY PRO RATA With the exception of British Columbia and Ontario, which are not prime targets of the program, each province receives money in roughly the same proportion as its share of unemployment.

But there are significant variations. From mid-1969 to late 1971, the average unemployment in Saskatchewan was 13.400, compared with 15.400 in Manitoba and 26.600 in prosperous Alberta.

Manitoba and Alberta, however, have received far more than Saskatchewan, even allowing for their greater unemployment.

To Jan. 31, grant offers totalled $23.8 million for Alberta, $11.9 million for Manitoba and $4.4 million for Saskatchewan. The figures are net totals, with withdrawn and declined offers deleted, as well as projects that have collapsed for other reasons, such as bankruptcy.

British Columbia has received $3.5 million in grant offers to Jan. 31. Ontario is getting $20.2 million.

The bulk goes to Quebec—$99.7 million, or 45.8 per cent of the total. DREE projects are expected to create 28,574 jobs in Quebec, 55.8 per cent of the total 51,162 jobs to be created by the program.

Quebec had 35 per cent of Canada's unemployed in January.

WOODFIBRE, B.C. (CP) — Residents of this company town on Howe Sound 30 miles north of Vancouver can buy their homes for $1, but so far there have been few takers.

Employees who buy their rented homes for $1 also must post a $200 bond insuring that the building will be removed.

The token purchase price is part of an attempt by Rayonier Canada Ltd. to phase out the company's residential area by September, 1973; mill manager Bill Francis said Tuesday.

He said the reason the company is virtually giving the 120 houses away is cost.

"The water supply is poor."

in fact, the pressure was so weak in one area, there wasn't enough for proper fire protection," said Mr. Francis.

"The sewer system is inadequate, the power supply is deteriorating. To maintain and improve the area would probably cost the company about $500,000."

He said Rayonier made some property available to a developer near Squamish, across the channel, for single-family homes. Some of the 500 Woodfibre employees have built there.

Canadian Firm Wins Contract For Jordan Oil Concession

AMMAN (Reuters) — A Canadian company, Desco Investment Ltd., has been awarded a 45-year oil concession in Jordan under an agreement signed here Tuesday.

Ahmed A-Lawzi, Jordan's prime minister, signed the accord in his capacity as head of the natural resources authority.

In a speech after signing the agreement, Lawzi said he hoped the Canadian company would achieve "successful results as regards the striking of oil in Jordan."

Mahmoud Al-Hawamdeh, vice-chairman of the natural resources authority, told reporters the agreement would be implemented in two stages—the first, respecting for oil, and the second, oil exploitation.

He said the Canadian company had agreed to spend $20 million on oil exploration in Jordan.

JORDAN GETS CUT The Jordanian government will get 12.5 per cent of the profits as royalties and 25 per cent as taxes, he added.

Hawamdeh said the percentage would increase should the company withdraw its capital, provided the taxes did not exceed 50 per cent. The natural resources authority will have a 45-per-cent share in the profits in the event the company strikes oil, he added.

Increasing Difficulty Seen In Canadian-U.S. Relations

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister John Turner forecast Tuesday increasing difficulty in reconciling political and economic disagreements between Canada and the United States.

The minister told the Canadian Club the growth and modernization of the Canadian economy may be limited by new American policies such as creation of the Domestic International Sales Corp., designed to stimulate U.S. exports.

The DISC arrangement permits U.S. companies to set up special corporations and postpone payment of most income taxes on export profits. Mr. Turner said it raises the question whether U.S.-based corporations in Canada will expand their capital investment and production in this country.

He predicted "increased competition from some U.S. firms in our domestic market and overseas."

He paid tribute to John Connally, U.S. secretary of the treasury, for his part in achieving international currency adjustments last December.

Under the adjustments, most major currencies increased in value in terms of the U.S. dollar while the Canadian dollar continued to float. As a result, Canadian exports became cheaper in Europe and Japan while imports from these countries became more expensive in Canada.

Mr. Turner said Canada is ready to participate in new talks to achieve long-term reform of the world monetary system.

PERSISTENT BEEF

Lack Of Base In Cuba Worries CUSO

HAVANA (CP) — At annual meetings of Canadian University Service Overseas a perennial complaint, most often coming from students oriented towards the left politically, was that CUSO was not in Cuba.

CUSO now is in Cuba with a type of program that is totally new for the private foreign assistance organization.

CUSO's operation in Cuba has been different from the beginning. Joe Vise, co-ordinator here for the program, said in an interview on the balcony of his eighth-floor apartment overlooking the sea-wall that fronts the old-town section of Havana.

The usual pattern has been for CUSO to study a country and make the initial contact but Vise said CUSO had done less in Latin America than in other areas.

"Canada has been behind with respect to Latin America and CUSO probably reflected this."

The initial inquiries were made by the Cubans in 1969, at a time when the Cuban government was displaying an increased interest in Canada. In approaching CUSO, the Cubans had specific objectives.

"They wanted to fill jobs where there was no chance that the work could be done by a Cuban."

TO TEACH TEACHERS

In many cases, this meant teachers to instruct teachers.

Most other CUSO programs provide people with skills—such as teachers and engineers—who do field work and sign a two-year contract.

The Cubans wanted top-level professionals to do specific tasks which may involve a few weeks work or a year or two.

Vise, 39, arrived in late 1970. He has a PhD from Columbia University of New York, and after completing the doctoral program in 1963 he worked for two years in an Indian village in Guatemala doing basic community work. Before joining CUSO he taught university physics for four years at Nairobi, Kenya.

The first teacher arrived in December and the goal for the program is to have about 75 Canadians work in Cuba this year. There has been no decision about continuing the program and that decision will not be made until the Cubans and CUSO evaluate this year's results.

The Cuban requests reflected a desire to establish programs which Cubans were capable of running. They wanted people to establish or review and revise courses and people to write textbooks. There were some requests for people to do research.

The education program under the Castro government has placed heavy emphasis on training in technological skills. Central University at Santa Clara has an enrolment of about 4,000 and only 111 students in the humanities.

TEXTBOOKS SOUGHT

Many of the degree programs were established after the revolution that brought Fidel Castro to power in 1959 and in several of these programs most of the teachers are recent university graduates.

The textbooks the Cubans wanted primarily were for courses to train middle-level technicians. Vise said the types of textbooks which the Cubans could adapt to their needs often are not suitable for the skill levels Cuba needs. For example, these would be for courses for laboratory technicians or hospital orderlies. Frequently these people had broader responsibilities because of shortages of trained professionals.

Sometimes the needs were for skills that were learned on the job in advanced industrial societies.

There was a heavy emphasis on agriculture, including forestry, and animal sciences in the Cuban requests.

An unexpected request, Vise said, was for a swimming instructor. The sports program is "probably one of the best organized things in Cuba." Cuba has done well recently in team sports—Cuba was second to the United States at the Pan-American Games and well ahead of Canada and the Latin American countries. Cuban athletes have not done as well in individual sports.

CITES ADVANTAGES

Part of the program involves Canadian professionals working for a year in Cuba. A year is a practical time period for a university professor because a sabbatical leave is for a year.

tions of Cuba for Canadian professors is that it has tropical conditions for research which do not exist in Canada and state control of the economy allows for large research projects in any field.

CUSO-program courses are given in English and Vise said this has not created many problems. English is a requirement in Cuban secondary schools and English or Russian is required at the university level. Many of the Canadians take a 10-week course in Spanish at Cuernavaca, Mexico, before going to Cuba.

Another part of CUSO's work here involves the engineering technology faculty at the University of Havana. The university has just begun a doctoral program in this faculty and 29 Canadian professors are scheduled to give a series of intensive courses to Cuban professors to help establish the program.

In Cuba, as in other countries where CUSO operates, the government pays living expenses. CUSO pays for travel to and from Cuba, for the Spanish course and for certain incidental expenses.

Bennett Explains Policy On Teachers' Pay Row

VICTORIA (CP) — The British Columbia government took out full-page advertisements in daily newspapers Tuesday to support its stand on the simmering teachers' salary issue, one day after the B.C. Teachers' Federation voted to set up a political action fund to try to unseat the Social Credit administration.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said the ads were placed because the media failed to keep the public informed on a controversial amendment to the Public Schools Act which set a limit of 6.5 per cent on the amount of annual salary increases the government will share in financing with municipalities.

Any increase above the government-established ceiling would require ratepayers' approval.

The premier said the government was not going to "take on the teachers" or any other segment of society in the next provincial election, expected this year.

The ad, signed by Education Minister Donald Bracken, included a graph showing teachers' salaries rose more than five times as fast as the cost of living between 1951 and 1971.

It said: "Today, the average salary of our teachers is $11,102 per year, with generous holidays and fringe benefits. They are the highest paid teachers in Canada."

"With a 6.5-per-cent annual increase, compounded, our teachers will double their present good salaries in 10 years. Does this sound 'unfair' to you?"

The reaction of the teachers was anger.

Officials of the federation said the ads, apparently timed to coincide with the second day of its three-day convention in Vancouver, contained a number of "half-truths" which would give readers an unfavorable impression of the organization's opposition to government cost-cutting policies.

The Teachers' Association, led by Vice-President

Paul Schmidt, collected about $500 from delegates for an ad to reply to government claims.

Teachers' federation officials said the average salary for teachers is closer to $10,400 and said there is no guarantee increases "average 6.5 per cent per year."

Federation President Adam Robertson said, "The real issue is collective bargaining rights and our loss of them because of the government's action."

Mr. Robertson said federation publicity aimed at rebutting government advertising on the issue will be paid for with part of a levy of one day's salary on its 23,000 members which could raise $1.25 million. The funds also will be used to help support political candidates who support the teachers' position.

Meantime, Premier Bennett said the government is fighting to hold "wild inflation" in check, and teachers will realize the government is really protecting their future buying power.

L.A. Lakers Win By 108-97

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jerry West erupted for 23 points in the second half and Los Angeles Lakers rallied to beat Chicago Bulls 108-97 and sweep their National Basketball Association quarter-final playoff series, four games to none.

The Lakers now advance against the winner of the Milwaukee Bucks - Golden State Warriors series.

The Bucks now lead that best-of-seven series 3-1 after beating Golden State 106-99 Tuesday night.

In the other two series Tuesday, Baltimore Bullets took a 2-1 lead over New York Knicks with a 104-103 win and Atlanta Hawks evened their set with Boston Celtics at two wins each with a 112-110 decision.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana edged Denver 122-120 to take a 2-1 lead in that best-of-seven quarter-final. New York downed Kentucky 105-90 for a 2-0 lead and Virginia jumped to a 3-0 edge over the Floridians with a 118-113 victory.

NBA action resumes Thursday night at New York and Milwaukee and the Celtics-Hawks match goes again at Boston Friday.

Flamboyant Negro Congressman Dies At 63 After Long Illness

MIAMI (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the flamboyant former United States congressman who swept through life with beautiful women on his arm, a sermon on his lips and an adoring Harlem at his feet, has died after a long illness. He was 63.

His death in hospital Tuesday night was attributed to complications stemming from an earlier prostate operation.

The first black elected to Congress from the eastern U.S., Powell also became the first congressman in modern times excluded by a vote of the House of Representatives.

He was turned out in 1967 for misusing funds and defying the courts.

Powell was re-elected in a special election a month after his colleagues voted to deny him a congressional seat. However, he did not try to reclaim his seat.

RETURNS EASILY

In 1968, without making a single campaign appearance in Harlem, Powell was re-elected again, by a 7-to-1 majority—the same margin by which the Supreme court ruled the following June that Congress had exceeded its constitutional power in barring him.

But he got neither the $55,000 in back pay nor restoration of the seniority that made him chairman of the House education and labor committee.

After his re-election in 1968, Congress voted to re-seat him, provided he pay a $25,000 fine and forfeit seniority. He accepted, but attended only part-time.

Following a bout with cancer in 1969, Powell announced he would run again. But he was defeated in a six-man Democratic primary.

Before Congress kept him out, Powell was attacked for his absenteeism, his junketing, for being delinquent in income taxes, for keeping his estranged wife on his payroll for $20,000 without duties and for his growing identification with the Black Power movement.

One of the more controversial situations in his life grew from a 1960 New York television show on which he called a Harlem widow, Esther James, a "bag woman"—a collector of bribes for police.

The libel judgment against Powell was $211,500 but eventually he paid $46,500.

The grandson of a slave, Powell was born Nov. 29, 1908 in New Haven, Conn., the son of a preacher who preceded him as spiritual leader of the 10,000-member Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York.

When Powell was flown from his Bahamian retreat, Darlene Expose, a woman he had introduced to reporters as his wife, accompanied him.

During the final days of his life, his third wife Yvette, from whom he had been estranged since 1965, engaged Darlene in a court fight in Miami over Powell's body and estate.

He had been divorced twice before.

Powell's will specified that his body be cremated, with the ashes to be scattered over the island of South Bimini.

It takes $15 a day to feed and care for 1,000 mice in research laboratories throughout Canada. Mice are used in experiments which are helping to solve the problem of cancer. Support the research attack on cancer by sending a cheque to your local unit of the Canadian Cancer Society.
